A Pocket Full of Birds

Birds just don't have housing problems. If there are no unoccupied trees, or there isn't time to build a split-level nest, they just set up housekeeping in the pocket of a pair of jeans.

Mrs. Richard Ludwig, Birdsboro RD 2, hung her husband's pants on the line to dfy May 9. When it came time to get the pants down, she discovered that the birds had taken over. Mrs. Ludwig believes it is a family of wrens—mother, father and eight eggs. The pocket is lined with straw and a few feathers; the Ludwigs keep watch to see their tenants are not disturbed. The Ludwigs live in a house trailer near the Daniel Boone homestead, and there will be no eviction notice served on the free-loading wrens. The pants will stay right on the line until the family moves away, proclaimed Mrs. Ludwig. The birds even have a name, Mr. and Mrs. Wrentin-tin.

Census Shows Town, County Are Growing

Pottstown's population expanded at a greater rate during the past decade than it has at any time since the population explosion of the 1880s, census figures released Friday show.

Official figures show Pottstown's population at 26,066—a 19.1 percent increase since 1950 and just 66 above the figure projected for 1960 by the borough planning commission.

In the same period, Montgomery county increased 46 percent — from 353,068 to 515,506. The 162,000 increase in county population was attributed to the influx into the Delaware Valley from all parts of the country and the emigration from Philadelphia to suburban counties.

The county's 38 townships all showed gains, but six of the 24 boroughs showed population losses. The boroughs showing losses are East Greenville, Bridgeport, Conshohocken, West Conshohocken, Jenkintown and Narberth.

THE 1960 figures show Pottstown continuing as the county's second largest borough and retaining its position as the county's fifth largest municipality.

The increase of 19.1 percent was the largest in this county, easily topping the 13.3 percent population hike recorded between 1900 and 1910.

Since 1900, the population increases have averaged 13.6 percent. The smallest increase came during the depression years of 1930-40, when the population increased less than 4 percent.

In 1880, according to borough records, the population nearly tripled, increasing from 5200 to approximately 14,000. At that point, the population levelled off for a decade, then began the slow rise to today's 26,066 total.

Driver Hurt When Car Flips On Route 422

A Royersford man was injured Friday night at 11:30 o'clock when his car veered out of control and flipped over on Route 422 one half mile east of Sanatoga.

Howard Reifsnyder suffered multiple cuts and bruises from the waist up in the mishap. He also may have injuries of the skull and left shoulder.

Reifsnyder was admitted to Memorial hospital for observation.

He was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist, Fred Rittenbaugh, Phoenixville RD 1.

Sanatoga Native Taught Famous Athletes

WYOMING PROFESSOR BEGAN CAREER IN 1911

Prof. Ernest Erwin Quay, a Sanatoga native who became a noted athletic coach at Wyoming seminary, Wilkes-Barre, died Friday at his home in Kingston. He was 75.

He retired in June, 1957, after a teaching and coaching career that began in 1911. From 1911 to 1927, he coached the school's football, basketball and baseball teams, winning more than 400 games.

When he retired in 1957, he was director of the Dean school of business at the seminary. He went into teaching "as a sideline to his coaching," he said in an interview at the time of his retirement.

He became athletic director in 1927, and head of the

Picnic Treat Could Become Treatment

A picnic can be an ideal repast this holiday weekend. And a little foresight will enhance the fun.

The foresight can be spelled out as "preventive medicine." Care in selecting a campsite and in preparing foods will add to the fun of a day in the woods, noted Dr. Jack R. Wennersten.

Dr. Wennersten, chairman of the Pottstown board of health, cautioned picknickers to make all salads the day of their outing.

Salads made a few days before a picnic, even though refrigerated, can be dangerous The sudden change from ice box conditions to the warm out of doors can spoil the food and poison the eaters," warned Dr. Wennersten.

POTTSTOWN'S recreation department suggests "canned ice" as a way to keep foods fresh canned ice is a liquid in tin boxes that, if frozen for a day, will stay hard for many hours in the woods. Many Pottstown markets and stores sell the inexpensive item.

Dr. Wennersten noted that poison ivy rash could be "particularly bad" during this weekend.

"There are two things to do with poison ivy. One is to avoid getting it, and that is easy and cheap. The other is to see a doctor if

Early Morning Rain Expected; Clearing Later

Don't let a threat of rain this morning dampen all your hopes for holiday fun.

The weatherman calls for scattered showers early today, but they will be wafted out of the borough by late afternoon.

Although the day will be cool and not too fitting for a picnic, skies will be mostly clear by dusk.

In any event, Pottstown won't be hit by heavy deluges of rain that today's clouds dumped over Virginia Friday afternoon.

MOSTLY FAIR weather is forecast for tomorrow and Monday. Temperatures in the mid or upper 70s will be about 10 degrees under last Memorial day weekend. But the weatherman advises picknickers to go ahead with plans for outdoor activities.

Memorial day is traditionally a time for the season's first dip in a lake, pool or ocean. Bathers steeped in the tradition will find the swimming mild compared to other years.

The temperature record for Memorial day is 93 set in 1942. The low mark is a bone chilling 41 in 1949.

The five day forecast calls for temperatures to average normal to four above normal. The usual high is 77 and the normal low is 57.

Ohio Starts Legal Work to Get Back Friendly 'Oilman'

Charles E. Walters spent Friday charming his fellow inmates at Montgomery county prison, calmly awaiting the result of attempts by Ohio authorities to have him extradited for selling fraudulent oil stocks.

Robert Davison, sheriff of Auglaize county, Ohio, said extradition proceedings against Walters, 70, were begun Friday.

The sheriff said he expects to know by Tuesday whether Walters will be at back to Ohi to face fraud charges in his county and in Mercer county.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Harold Hahn said no charges have been pressed against Walters in this area.

WALTERS WILL be held in the county prison, however, until Pennsylvania authorities decide whether to send him back to Ohio.

Walters was arrested Thursday afternoon in Boyertown, where he had been living while he scoured the countryside around Landis Store for farmers and other residents willing to lease their land in the hope that oil would be found.

According to Sheriff Davison, this is the way Walters operated in Ohio.

"He moved into a hotel in Wapakoneta, Auglaize county, and won the confidence of a local businessman by claiming to be in the oil business. His story was that he had leased a large amount of land in the northwest part of the county to drill for oil.

"The businessman whom Walters contacted first introduced him to other businessmen interested in speculating in oil.

"Two of these men gave Walters $1000 each for single shares in the enterprise. He got another $1000 from a group of

Patrols to Saturate Deadman's Run Over Holiday

Twenty-five motorists have been arrested by State police from the Thorndale barracks in the past four days for violating highway laws on Route 83 between Pottstown and Spring City.

Sgt. B. J. Tarlecky, who is in charge of the Thorndale barracks, said Friday night most of the offences involved speeding.

He said that in one eight hour period Wednesday 12 drivers were arrested.

Police have 15 days in which to file charges against traffic violators.

SGT. TARLECKY said four patrol cars will scan Route 83—including the two-mile stretch known as Deadman's Run where six persons died within a two-week period — today. Three patrol cars will be on duty tomorrow, and four Monday.

Schools Feel Inflation As Budgets Set Records

School budgets are breaking all records—and it is purely and simply inflation.

Rising costs for operating educational systems must be met by the taxpayer, and it is an unusual area where the man on the street will not have a lighter pocket.

A survey of 11 school districts shows a higher budget in each case—and the explanation is always the same.

"Everything costs more this year than it did last year."

RISING ENROLMENTS require more teachers, there are normal salary increments, and new facilities and equipment are needed to fulfill the educational needs of a growing population.

And materials such as books, paper, pencils, erasers, rulers, water colors, crayons and all the rest are just a little higher priced than they were a year ago.

The survey included Pottstown School district, and ten joint districts in three counties.

The Boyertown Area school board has not compiled a complete budget, since each of the 12 member districts must first decide individually what the

45 Will Get Jury Trial In Segregation Tiff

Margaret Jean Neff, 20, of 268 Sixth avenue, and 44 other lunch counter demonstrators, Friday granted a jury trial on trespassing charges.

Miss Neff, a student at Bennett college, a schoolmate, Mary Ellen Bender, 21, of Leonia, N.J., and 43 Negroes from Bennett and North Carolina A & T colleges, are charged with trespassing at the Kress Variety store in Greensboro, N.C., April 21 after they had been denied access to the lunch counter.

The defense request for a jury trial was granted in Greensboro, and the case for the integration-minded students was shifted to Guilford Superior court for the term beginning June 13.

The first delay was requested by the soliciator and the second, May 18, was because of technically defective warrants.

Julia Ward Howe Beheld Glory And Revealed It to Posterity

"Ninety-one years of learning, teaching, serving, enjoying."

This was how two of Julia Ward Howe's daughters summed up their mother's life in a Pulitzer prize winning biography.

Julia Ward Howe was born on May 27, 1819—141 years ago Friday. Her most famous work, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," was recently at the top of the Musical Hit Parade, performed by the Philadelphia orchestra and the 200-voice Mormon Tabernacle choir.

Written during the Civil War in the midst of raising six children and helping her husband edit an anti-slavery pamphlet, it is still one of the favorite songs of graduating classes.

MRS. HOWE married a Boston philanthropist and violent anti-slavery editor, and their home, "Green Peace," soon became the rallying point for Boston's intellectuals and abolitionists. While aiding her editor-husband and raising six children, she managed to write two books of verse, "Passion Flowers," in 1854 and "Words for the Hour," in 1857; a play, "The World's Own," in the same year; and a volume of travel sketches the following year.

FAMILIES TO GATHER AT ELLIS WOODS

Flying banners and a holiday spirit will spark Memorial Day in Pottstown — as it will in most other places.

What gives character to this area's celebration is an old, hand-me-down tradition. The hand-me-down is a memorial service for Revolutionary war dead.

The ceremony was started by Civil war veterans, devolved with the passing years to Spanish war veterans and then to campaigners of World Wars I and II and then the Korean conflict.

Time for the next venerable ceremony will be 2:30 tomorrow in Ellis Woods.

BESIDES EX-SERVICEMEN who pay homage there, the 17 graves for Revolutionary soldiers is a gathering place for families with their own war dead. Forty-seven veterans from Pottstown died since last Memorial day.

'Thousands' See Warehouse Burn; 2 Firemen Hurt

A general alarm fire early Friday night gutted a March-Brownback warehouse at South and Charlotte streets and belched forth clouds of black acrid smoke that temporarily drove area residents from their homes and curious onlookers from the area.

Two firemen were injured fighting the fire that brought out more than 120 firemen and a dozen pieces of equipment. Both were admitted to Memorial hospital where their conditions were reported as satisfactory.

The firemen are George Medvetz, 16, of 347 Union alley, and Ralph Garner, 30, of Pottstown RD 1.

Medvetz, a junior member of Philadelphia Steam Engine Fire company, the first on the scene, was knocked unconscious when a hose coupling flew apart, striking him across the jaw. He was rushed to the hospital in a Goodwill ambulance. X-rays will be taken today.

GARNER, a member of Goodwill Fire company, was struck in the face with a stream of water from a high pressure hose. He suffered an eye injury. He too, was taken to the hospital in a Goodwill ambulance.

Louis A. Ulrich assistant chief of the Philadelphia company sounded the general alarm seconds after arriving at the warehouse. Empire Hook and Ladder company, North End Fire company, Goodwill Fire company, and West End Fire company, of Stowe responded.

The acrid smoke from the wood-filled, tin and tarpaper roofed warehouse, enveloped the area, forcing firemen to tie wet handkerchiefs across their mouth and nose.

At the height of the fire, visibility was cut to less than ten feet as smoke poured from cracks in the 120-foot long building.

First hoses were set up by Fire Chief Richard Moser in an effort to halt the fire from spreading to houses on South Charlotte street or the St. John's Catholic school on South street.

Because of low water pressure and heavy smoke firemen made little headway in the first few minutes. At the fire's height, more than 15 lines were

SENIOR CLASS HAS TRIP TO NEW YORK

Elementary Patrol Spends Day In Hershey

It was traveling day Friday for more than 400 Pottstown school children, as the High school Senior class visited New York City on its class trip and Elementary safety patrols motored to Hershey.

A total of 153 out of 226 graduating Seniors made the annual class trip, now only a one-day affair. Previously the trip was for three days in Washington.

They left by bus Friday at 5:45 a. m. and returned early this morning. Accompanying the Seniors were class sponsors Earl R. Strange Sr. and Alma Klink.

Also, faculty members Charles Brown, Morrell Grigg, Miriam Ludwig, Katherine Kos-

Impromptu Relief Demonstration Highlights Army Anniversary Tour

The Salvation Army had open house on Friday and visitors saw a spontaneous show of the organization's work.

A few score persons toured the Salvation Army Citadel, 137 King street, during a 13-hour celebration.

At 7 p. m. a general alarm fire erupted at Charlotte and South streets. Capt. C. Robert Flinn, Salvation Army commander, said he didn't know whether to leave his guests or not.

"But as the fire horn kept tooting I realized I had just one true obligation. That was to be at the scene of the blaze," said Capt. Flinn.

CITADEL VISITORS watched him ready the Salvation Army's emergency truck, and off to the fire went Capt. Flinn.

He dispensed coffee and donuts to fire fighters for more than an hour, smoothed his ruffled uniform and returned post-haste to his guests at the Citadel.

Open house at the Citadel was part of a week long celebration of National Salvation Army week. The biggest event in the 80th anniversary of the organization will be tomorrow.

The Salvation Army cadet band and male chorus from the training college in New York city will visit the borough at 10 a. m.

Navy Ships Seek Unidentified Sub

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy said Friday night antisubmarine vessels have been searching the Atlantic near the Florida Keys for several days, presumably for an unidentified submarine.

A Miami television station broadcast earlier that Navy submarines and surface craft were seeking a foreign submarine off Key West.

In reply to questions, the Navy confirmed it had been investigating a sonor contact off the Florida Keys for the past several days. Sonar is an underwater sound detection device used in tracking subs.

"At the present time," the Navy said, "six antisubmarine warfare ships are conducting the search."

Station WTVJ, which quoted no source, said it has "learned a full-scale U. S. Navy operation is under way off Key West where a foreign submarine is believed hemmed in and trapped by U. S. subs and a surface fleet."

The office of the chief of staff at Key West naval base declined comment, saying some ships are out, but only on operations.

WTVJ said, "The foreign submarine, presumed to be Russian, is beyond the five-mile limit. It has been suspected for some time that Soviet undersea craft have been taking a peek at the U. S. coastline and have been witnessing firings at the Cape Canaveral rocket site."

An intercontinental Titan rocket was fired Friday on a 5,000-mile range to Ascension Island, off South America, and the Air Force pronounced the firing a success.

Last September a fishing boat reported that an unidentified submarine had been sighted off Miami Beach. The submarine was reported to have surfaced three miles off the coast but to have quickly submerged when sighted by the fishing craft.

The Navy made an investigation then.

There are special provisions in sea law as to submarines. These cover the entry of a submarine into territorial water if in trouble or if using the water to transit to another point, the right of "innocent passage" as it is called.

A submarine must enter such water only when on the surface. And like any warship, it must obtain prior permission through diplomatic channels to enter territorial water unless damaged, in danger and seeking help.

Nations are not in agreement on the measurement and definition of territorial water. Some countries, the United States among them, claim sovereignty over water extending outward from the lowtide mark for three nautical miles, in addition to certain bays and other indentations. Other countries in recent years have moved their territorial water claim out to 12 or more miles.

In international waters, on the high seas, the accepted rules are that no attack may be made on a submarine unless the submarine has opened attack or made plainly evident the intention of hostile action. This does not prevent the hunting for and following of a submarine as long as it remains in international water.

Amelia Earhart Reported Shot By Japanese

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—A woman who may have been one of the last to see Amelia Earhart alive said Firday she was told the famed woman flier was executed by the Japanese military.

The San Mateo Times, in a copyright story by Linwood Day, quoted Josephine Blanco Akiyama now a surgical aide in a San Mateo hospital, as saying she recognized pictures of Miss Earhart as the "American lady pilot" she saw taken into custody on the Japanese fortress island of Saipan in July 1937.

The woman flier was accompanied by a man, also an American, dressed in flying clothes.

The Times said, while Mrs. Akiyama's story had been partially known to a few persons for some years, this was the first time she had allowed publication of details of what she saw in that tense period before World War II.

Miss Earhart disappeared on a flight from Lae, New Guinea, July 2, 1937. Her destination, with Frederick Noonan as her navigator, was the tiny island of Howland, some 2,550 miles to the east.

The Times said if Mrs. Akiyama's story is correct, it may solve a riddle that has puzzled the world for 23 years.

"I was a girl of 11 and had ridden my bicycle to take lunch to my brother-in-law who worked for the Japanese military," Mrs. Akiyama said.

"In the distance, on the beach, was an airplane. About 100 feet away were this man and woman. The people kept saying 'American lady pilot.'

"She wore long trousers and a sweater or jacket. I think she had a dark scarf about her neck and she wore a wristwatch. She had reddish or light brown hair, cut very short.

"They stood there talking to some soldiers who, after a while, took them away in a big black sedan. I never saw them again."

About two weeks later, the Times quoted her as saying, a member of the Japanese secret police came by. Some children asked: "What happened to the American lady pilot?"

"He laughed and then said: 'They executed her. They shot her.'"

Menderes Arrested After Military Coup

PEOPLE ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT OVERTHROW

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Jubilants Turks cheered through the streets Friday, hailing military leaders for ousting the dictatorial Premier Adnan Menderes.

Menderes and many of his ministers and parliamentary supporters were under arrest following the early morning coup.

A military spokesman hinted the deposed Premier might be put on trial.

The head of the new ruling military group declared he has no desire to become a dictator.

Newspapers silenced by Menderes' increasingly arbitrary regime were told they could resume publishing immediately. Under Menderes many editors had been summarily imprisoned. Anouncements said all public officials will return to their normal duties Saturday. Military commanders were ordered to insure that the situation in the country remains normal.

Restrictions on landings at Turkish airports, imposed during the day, were lifted.

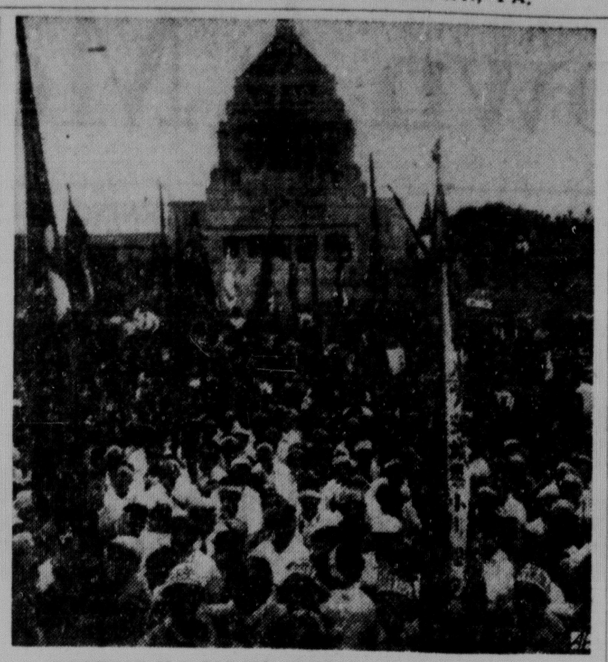

Throughout the nation the population reacted with relief at the overthrow of Menderes' government. In Istanbul, civilians embraced members of the armed forces in the streets. There were tears of joy from youthful demonstrators who had spearheaded protests against the Menderes regime.

There also were cheers when Lt. Gen. Cemal Gursel, an old soldier recently tossed out by Menderes as head of the ground forces, announced in a special communique that Parliament had been dissolved. New elections were promised "soon."

Gursel heads the group of high-ranking air force, army and navy officers who set up "the Turkish National Union Committee."

Southern Chile Still Suffers From Quakes

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The earth-shaking that has killed thousands and remade the topographical map of Chile in a week of disaster continued Friday amid a great effort to relieve the hunger and misery of survivors. Earthquakes and volcanic violence still spread terror over southern Chile.

At one illustrative point on a vast panorama of pathos, police had to fire warning shots over the heads of disaster victims who in the desperation of hunger had tried to pounce on emergency food stocks set up for orderly distribution at stricken Valdivia.

Valdivia, a city of 100,000, was one of the hardest hit in the week-long series of Chilean disasters for which officials estimate the death toll may reach 5,000.

As reports continued to come in from remote areas, the list of dead and missing climbed.

A landslide in the mountain community of Rupanco Tuesday buried 113 persons under tons of rocks, it was reported Friday, pushing the known total of dead and missing to close to 3,000.

Slightly north of Rupanco, tons of boiling lava poured into Lake Ranco, sweeping over people and houses. At least 11 persons were killed by the lava, and many others were still missing.

The lava was from Mt. Carran, southeast of Valdivia, one of six long inactive volancos in the region which have erupted, belching smoke and ashes over hundreds of miles.

Police said roads in the Mt. Carran area were completely covered by lava.

Two new volcanoes and new mountains have been born as a result of the earthquakes, new islands have sprung up off-shore and new lakes have appeared, while old valleys, mountains, lakes and islands have disappeared.

Two new quakes were reported by the University of Chile's Seismological Institute Friday.

At Valdivia, where about 40 per cent of the business and industrial areas are in ruins, the desperate need for food and water was made worse by the poor condition of the airport which prevented big U. S. Air Force Globemasters from landing with supplies.

JAP PREMIER BACKS UP IKE INVITATION

Demonstrations by Radicals Was Feared

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's government notified the United States Friday it intends to stand by the invitation for President Eisenhower to visit Japan in June regardless of noisy nationwide opposition from left-wing groups.

The declaration came amid concern about the treatment the President and Mrs. Eisenhower may receive from demonstrators.

The demonstrators now are at the height of frenzied efforts to block the new U. S.-Japan security treaty.

It goes into effect June 19, the day Eisenhower is due here. They have promised widespread agitation, if the President comes.

Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama told newsmen: "At the present time there is no intention here of asking for a delay or cancellation of the President's scheduled visit. To do so on grounds of security would put Japan in a bad light."

The phrase "at the present time" left an escape clause for the government. Admitting the government's desire to save face, Fujiyama said he does not expect the President will back down "except in the event of physical illness on his part."

Hundreds of thousands of Japanese have demonstrated in Tokyo and other parts of the country in the past few weeks to demand scrapping of the new security treaty, Kishi's resignation, dissolution of Parliament, and the cancellation of Eisenhower's visit.

Concern about the President's reception stems largely from the fact that a small, ultra-left student minority among the demonstrators has frequently thrown rocks, smashed windows and engaged in free-for-alls with police.

Red 'Bugging' Called Violation of Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) said Friday night the planting of a Soviet microphone in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow was a violation of international law.

Fulbright said the case of "the bugged eagle"—a plaque bearing the seal of the United States which the Russians planted in the embassy—was discussed with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in the Foreign Relations Committee's closed-door hearings.

Fulbright said "it was discussed" but no one ever asked Herter how the United States finally discovered that an electronic eavesdropping device was secreted inside the plaque.

He added, however, that Herter had mentioned that "some 100 various kinds of espionage devices" have been found in U.S. embassies.

Herter Says Eisenhower Avoided Khrushchev Trap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter testified Friday that President Eisenhower took personal responsibility for spy flights over the Soviet Union to avoid a trap set for him by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Furthermore, Herter told critical senators, it was better to tell the truth about the flights—once Khrushchev had evidence to prove them—than to be drawn deeper and deeper into a lie before the world.

But he acknowledged the President took unprecedented action in making a clean breast of the affair and assuming responsibility for the espionage operations.

The secretary of state was lead-off witness in a hearing called by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in an effort to get to the bottom of the U2 spy plane incident and the causes of the summit failure in Paris May 16. Testimony is being given behind closed doors, with transcripts made public after security censoring.

Herter denied that Soviet capture of a wrecked U2 spy plane and its pilot May 1 was wholly responsible for the collapse of the summit conference 16 days later. But he conceded it was a factor.

He also denied that it was Eisenhower's personal role which triggered the summit explosion.

Khrushchev used the U2 incident to blow up the Big Four meeting and tried to put the blame on Eisenhower, Herter declared, adding: "The assumption is that he had received his orders before he went to Paris."

The administration had first denied the plane downed May 1 was on an espionage mission. Then in a series of statements beginning May 7 it admitted the fact.

One of the questions the senators pressed on Herter was why Eisenhower had not held aloof from the affair and avoided personal responsibility.

Khrushchev had said he thought the President was not directly responsibile. If Eisenhower had accepted that way out, it has been argued, Khrushchev might have been willing to go ahead with the summit meeting.

Herter rejected this possibility. He said he regarded Khrushchev's apparent offer of a way out as "very much of a trap."

At the end of the long session, Herter had failed to convince all his hearers that the administration had followed the wise course.

Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) said "my tendency is to feel that it is unwise to depart from the tradition of centuries" by which he said heads of government have divorced themselves publicly at least from the practice of espionage.

Fulbright also said Herter and aides who testified with him had failed to clear up to his satisfaction that there was effective coordination among the various agencies involved in the U2 affair.

Officer On World Record Dive Declared Ineligible for Extra Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The comptroller general has decided a vessel that dives seven miles and maneuvers on the bottom of the sea isn't really a submarine—and therefore a Navy officer aboard isn't entitled to extra submarine pay.

A ruling by the nation's chief auditor means that Navy Lt. Don Walsh can't collect the pay that goes to all other Navy men while aboard an operating submarine of any kind, the unofficial but authoritative Army Navy Air Force Journal disclosed Friday.

Walsh, with civilian scientist Jacques Piccard, took the bathyscaph Trieste down to the bottom of the Pacific during a series of dives last January. They reached a depth of 35,800 feet, a world record.

For that hazardous feat, President Eisenhower pinned the Legion of Merit on Walsh and the Navy asked that he be granted submarine duty extra pay.

The 35,800-foot dive, if may be pointed out, compares with an operating depth for other Navy submersibles that is measured only in hundreds instead of tens of thousands of feet.

An official Navy spokesman, when asked by newsmen about the comptroller's decision, said: "The Navy still is convinced that this is hazardous duty and intends to do everything it can to see that Lt. Walsh gets hazardous duty pay."

In turning down the Navy's request to permit extra hazard pay for Walsh, the comptroller general was quoted by the Journal as saying, among other things, that extra submarine pay is made for duty aboard an "armed combat ship."

Records indicate that the Navy has several unarmed submarines whose crews draw extra submarine pay. Among these are the Archerfish and Albacore, which are used in research and development and oceanographic studies.

Walsh's regular pay is about $480 per month. The extra hazard pay for submarine duty would add $190 to that.

Nixon Claims Democrats Are 'Out of Step'

MELVIN, Ill. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon Friday asserted that Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo) are "out of step" with the majority of the members of their party. He said they were attempting to make a partisan issue of the summit conference.

Nixon opened fire at a news conference at the Democratic presidential nominee of 1952 and 1956, and the two senators who are bidding for that party's nomination this year.

"They are," he said, "out of step not only with the majority of Democrats in Congress, but in their own party in attempting to make a partisan issue of the summit conference."

Stevenson particularly has been sharply critical of the Eisenhower administration for what he terms the blunders in the events that led up to the abortive summit conference in Paris.

The vice president came to this town of 535 to help Rep. Leslie Arends, 64, House minority whip, celebrate "Les Arends Day." Thousands swarmed into the village for a giant fish fry, speechmaking and all the trimmings of a political outing.

A reporter mentioned that some Democrats had suggested that Stevenson be given equal time to reply to the President's radio-TV address of Wednesday night.

Nixon quipped in reply: "They ought to take a vote of all Democrats to see if they want Stevenson to be their spokesman."

THEATERS TO CLOSE

PARIS (AP)—A third of Paris' theaters will close for the summer June 15, six weeks ahead of schedule, reports President Benoit Leon Deutsch of the Theater Managers' Assn. He said the reason is some are having trouble meeting the nightly settlement of set taxes regardless of the box-office take.

Air Force Plans Training Exercise

WASHINGTON (AP)—A striking force of about 120 planes will be flown to Thailand, the Philippines and Formosa next week as "a training exercise," the Air Force said Friday night.

A Defense Department spokesman asked if the training exercises was related to the summit failure, replied: "It has been planned for at least six months."

The official announcement said the maneuver is similar to others held periodically to test the ability of the tactical air force to deploy over long distances quickly if faced by an emergency.

The force will include F100 super Saber and F101 reconnaissance jets, in addition to tanker planes and cargo aircraft.

The planes will begin leaving California June 1 for Clark Air Base in the Philippines. The entire force is scheduled to return to the United States in about 15 days.

From Clark Field which is used by the U. S. Air Force, about 300 planes will go on to Thailand for a "training and goodwill visit." They will land at the Don Muang Airfield, near Bangkok.

The rest of the force, consisting of tactical fighters, reconnaissance planes, tankers and troop carriers, will undergo training at Clark and in Formosa.

THE OTHER DAY

RAYMOND ELLIOTT Exec. V. P.

a friend remarked, "You know, 'I believe in giving flowers to the living' . . . can you guess what brought that good saying to mind?"

We admitted that we couldn't imagine what might have brought it up, and he said, "Why, it's because Memorial Day will be here again on May 30th, when we honor our war dead and decorate the resting places of our loved ones . . . and wouldn't it be a great combination if it became a custom also to give flowers on the same day to our living loved ones?" He added, "Sometimes the greatest respect we can pay to the departed is to show love for the living," and we felt it worth a minute to pass along his thoughts.

It is another time when flying or displaying a 50 star 'Old Glory' will silently speak our reverence for all our past as well as our present, and our mutual confidence in the future.

LET'S TALK FACTS on FLYING

by JOHN J. BASCO

This is my ninth weekly article about flying.

In each of the last eight articles, I did my best to present the facts about some of the most important—and most misunderstood—aspects in private flying. One article was about the low cost of used airplanes. Another about the safety and reliability of small planes. And still others discussed maintenance costs, and the simple requirements for student and private pilot licenses, etc.

If you read my previous articles, then I'm sure that you've run into many pleasant surprises. That's always the way when the true facts on any subject are brought to light.

I know, however, that there must be many of you who still have questions, and the purpose of today's article is to invite you once again to come out to the Pottstown Municipal Airport at any time and get those questions answered.

Somebody is always on hand at the airport to sit down and discuss the facts with you. We're open every day until nightfall, and that includes Sundays and holidays.

Just remember that the important point is this: private flying is a great deal more economical than the general public realizes, and there is no good reason why the enjoyment and benefits of flying should be denied anyone who wants to become a pilot. This was the major reason I began this series of fact-finding articles—to point out clearly that private flying is within the reach of almost every budget.

If you've missed any of my last eight articles, or if you've read them but still need more details, then by all means come on out to the airport and let's talk it over.

The chances are good that if you get the facts, you'll become a flyer—and when you do you will open up new horizons of pleasure and benefit you never knew existed.

See you next week with more facts on flying.

'SRI Pansh Maharajadhiraja' Fitted Into National Anthem

LONDON (AP)—You think "The Star-Spangled Banner" is tough to sing? Be glad you don't live in Nepal.

The King of Nepal is known as Sri Pansh Maharajadhiraja, and they have managed to get his name into their national anthem.

It starts out like this:

"May glory crown you, courageous sovereign, you.
"The gallant Nepalese,
"Sri Pansh Maharajadhiraja, our glorious ruler."

This and a fount of other fascinating information is made public in a new book entitled "National Anthems of the World," the work of Britons Martin Shaw and Henry Coleman.

"In general, it seems, the tinier the nation the more bristling the words to its national anthem. There are exceptions, though.

Lyrics of the Jordan anthem, in toto, follow: "Long live the King. Long live the King. His positions sublime, his banners waving in glory supreme."

Bahrein modestly contents itself with 40 notes in seven bars, and no words at all. Qatar is more austere still—33 notes in 11 bars, also without lyrics. It is impossible to take exception to the national anthems of Jordan, Bahrein or Qatar, even if you are the type who picks fights in saloons.

Denmark, on the other hand, is almighty bloodthirsty for a country its size. Its anthem begins:

"King Christian stood by the lofty mast
"In mist and smoke.
"His sword was hammering so fast,
"Through Gothic helm and brain it passed."

* * *

Cuba also has a chip on its shoulder, with a stirring national march which goes like this:

"Swift, oh men of Bayamo, to battle!
"Proudly watching, your motherland accepts you.
"Fear not fighting to fall; glory awaits you!
"For your country to die is to live."

When Greek meets Greek they don't always open a restaurant. Sometimes they collaborate on another verse for their national anthem, which at last count had 158 already.

Among the places that have national anthems are Andorra, Cameroon, the Faroe Islands, Kuwait, Yemen, Surinam and the Isle of Man.

Monaco's anthem proclaims "Your sovereign is better liked than a king." He should be. After all, he's Prince Rainier III and he brought Monaco Grace Kelly.

James Montgomery Flagg Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — James Montgomery Flagg, 82, the artist who changed the face of Uncle Sam, died Friday, nearly blind and long ill.

He was primarily a sketcher of subjects he liked best—beautiful girls. But his best-known drawing was the World War I recruiting poster of Uncle Sam—a dynamic figure with pointed finger exhorting "I Want You."

JAMES MONTGOMERY FLAGG

Until then, Uncle Sam had been depicted as an austere, gangling figure with circus-like decorations.

More than 100,000 copies of the same poster were used again in World War II and the original reposes in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

Flagg, lean, tall and gray, was his own model for Uncle Sam. He posed before a mirror and afterwards told of the trouble he had capturing the right hand.

"I had to drop the brush," he recalled, "take the pose, squint and then grab the brush and make a stroke or two."

Flagg sold his first drawing at the age of 12 to the St. Nicholas magazine. He was born in Pelham Manor, N. Y., studied in New York, London and Paris and by his early youth was an illustrator for various publications.

The artist's portrayal of American beauties won him a reputation as an authority on feminine pulchritude. His women were full-bosomed, fair-skinned, pert-nosed and with voluptuous lips.

The girls that Flagg captured on canvas brought him in as much as $70,000 a year.

But Flagg was no limited specialist. Besides painting and drawing for publications, he was a portrait artist whose works were exhibited, a screenwriter, actor and author.

He won a Mark Twain award for an essay he dashed off after a sketching appointment with the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt. It was entitled "Twenty Minutes with the President."

Flagg's first wife, the former Nellie McCormick, died in 1923. The next year he married Dorothy Virginia Wadman in New York, and they had a daughter, Faith.

Rockefeller Son Enrols at Seminary

NEW YORK (AP) — Steven Rockefeller, 24, son of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, has enrolled at Union Theological Seminary, it was learned Friday.

Young Rockefeller, a Princeton graduate who married his family's Norwegian house maid, "has indicated he would like to become a minister but he is anxious to learn more about the faith and the ministry" before he makes a definite commitment, said Dr. Robert J. Handy, chairman of admissions at the seminary.

The Rockefeller family are baptists but Steven's course, which he will start in the fall, will be interdenominational Protestant. He will be eligible to transfer later to a program leading to a bachelor of divinity degree.

Rockefeller, who has been studying the various phases of his family's vast operations, lives here quietly with his wife, the former Anne Marie Rasmussen. They were married in Norway last summer.

He would be the first member of the Rockefeller family to enter the ministry.

Ex-Governor Earl Long Gets Involved

NEW YORK—(AP)—Just what happened at the midtown Manhattan hotel where former Louisiana Gov. Earl Long, his bodyguard and a brunet stripper from Baltimore, Md., were staying?

Whatever it was, a Manhattan grand jury has been asked to find out.

What involved police with Long was a predawn telephone call from Marcia Katz, 24. She said someone took $240 from her room at the Warwick hotel while she, the former governor and his bodyguard, Dick Davis, were out on the town.

Investigators who went to her room to check found Davis there with her and discovered he was packing a gun.

The girl first told police she was Long's "niece," then later said she was a strip dancer at a Baltimore night spot.

"She just calls me 'Uncle', commented Long.

Because of the gun, Davis was taken into custody but the police soon decided he was on official business and entitled to carry it.

Later Long said Davis made "severe allegations" against the six officers who came to the hotel.

The allegations were not disclosed, nor were the names of the policemen. But Davis' gun was taken back by the police.

Long has been asked to stay until the jury winds up the case.

Saturday Sermon

Fingerprints

By EDGAR T. CHRISEMER, Pastor
Transfiguration Lutheran Church

"Every Common Bush," Dr. Chrisemer's new book, is a collection of 62 inspirational articles. This Saturday sermon is not an excerpt, but the book contains many essays you'll enjoy. It's on sale at H. F. Smith & Son, High and Charlotte street, The Lighthouse, King and Penn street, and the Heritage Book Shop, 10 North Evans street.

IN the dimly lighted room of the abandoned shack a man bent over a table. Before him was a bottle of acid.

With infinite care he opened the bottle, hesitated for a moment as though nerving himself for the ordeal ahead of him, and then began. He opened the bottle and carefully applied a drop of the acid to the tip of one finger.

In a few moments his finger began to burn with pain, and tears came to his eyes.

Stubbornly, he applied the acid to the tip of each finger, one by one, until the outer skin had been eaten away.

A few weeks later a large sum of money was stolen from a building from which the thief made his escape by smashing a window.

Not a clue could be found.

Then outside the window a detective found a piece of glass, with a still legible fingerprint. But the print showed the center of the finger had been eaten away, probably by acid.

In spite of this trick the print was traced and the fingerprints of John Dillinger were the most easily recognized prints in the files of the FBI.

Every man has his own individual fingerprint by which the world identifies him. But he is also identified by the fingerprint his life and character make on society!

Great men have usually made a deep and lasting impression upon the world. And eveil men also left their stamp of hatred and cruelty on the human race.

Hitler has left his swastika and Nero his collisseum as their fingerprints on history.

Every great artist is recognized by his brush stroke and every musician by his style—their fingerprints in the world of art.

But the greatest fingerprint impression left on the world is the Cross of Jesus Christ!

Sometimes a man leaves the fingerprint of his character deeply embedded on other lives.

A soldier said about nurse Florence Nightingale:

"Before she came there was cussin' and swearin', but after that it was as holy as a church!"

Some years ago an American teacher was engaged to teach in one of the government schools in Japan.

His contract was that he was not to teach Christianity, and so far as words were concerned, he kept it faithfully.

But all the while his life was so blameless and good that it did the work without words.

Without his knowledge, 40 of the students met secretly in a grove and signed a covenant to give up idolatry and become Christians!

Overweight people do not necessarily have a large sphere of influence!

A man's influence is never measured by what things he owns but by his character and service.

A holy man of India, who added a large iron ring to his body every year, as a penance, finally weighed so much that the railroads refused to accept him as a passenger. They shipped him by freight!

And there are a great many people whose character weighs so little and their possessions so much that they are a dead weight to the world!

The only fingerprint they leave on the world is the dollar!

We live in a corner of the world which has its share of unhappiness, and the plain duty of every man is to leave his mark on it of some good thing done that will make it easier for the next.

A father left his hillside home one Winter day and began trudging along a narrow and dangerous path in the snow carefully picking his way. Suddenly he heard a voice behind him.

It was his little boy who had followed him: "Be careful, Daddy," he exclaimed; "I'm walking in your steps!"

Editor, The Mercury,
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where a London 14-year-old operates his own private zoo containing chipmunks, hamsters, an otter, a blackbird, a sparrow and a monkey. Neighbors, no doubt, fervently hope he doesn't decide to branch out and add some tigers and lions.

A critic says we've lost our sense of humor. Maybe it's because those old jokes on television sounded better when they were newer.

And say: I recently read of an African nation that has no television or radio, telephones or traffics lights. Sounds like a modern Garden of Eden!

Church Advice With Milk Deplored

Tired of Getting Orders

To the Editor: I picked up a bottle of milk recently and on it was printed, "Go to Church Sunday." Then I buy some bread and get the same advice.

Why don't these companies stick to selling milk and bread.

If I don't want to go to church that's my business and I don't like people telling me what to do.

But when milk bottles and bread wrappers start telling me how to live then I'm ready to toss in the sponge.

I wouldn't be surprised if I bought a can of peas and read the advice, "Don't Beat Your Wife," or "Cut The Grass, Now."

Pottstown W. B.

Disturbing Father

To the Editor: As a new father, I recently had cause to wonder about the publication of birth notices in your paper. Are these to provide a permanent record of the child's birth? Or are they to provide a customer-greedy insurance firm or photographer with a free sucker list?

Pottstown NEW DAD

EDITOR'S NOTE: They are published in the public interest. It is to be deplored that some persons use them as "sucker lists."

Thinks There's Discrimination

To the Editor: Every day we read in the newspapers about how horrible life under the Soviet government would be and how we should protect ourselves and our democracy.

What democracy?

This morning I was told that a certain young gentleman in Amity township was not given permission to make three apartments out of a 2½ story building, which has been standing empty for quite some time.

It seems the ordininces which are written for no one to understand, do not allow such actions.

However, a local businessman can have a store, a swimming pool, a lodge hall and several apartments all within about the same, perhaps less, amount of ground that this aforementioned young man was going to make an empty, deteriorating house, usuable for three different families.

There is not a house within 500 feet of this building but the "store" has houses on three sides.

So everyone is equal? We may be born equal, but we sure aren't equal very long.

One thing I did read in the blessed ordinance book was that in the farm district, buildings can be made into multiple dwellings. This house which I am mentioning is surrounded by fields which are harvested by local farmers. What is the farm district?

There seems to be quite a bit of unjust actions going on in the township, of which I am a member. I think it is time some of the dirt comes out in the open.

Doesn't the average man have a chance at all anymore?

So this is democracy?

Douglassville RD 2 DISGUSTED CITIZEN

What's It Costing Switchers?

To the Editor: I sure am enjoying all the fuss about the airport.

You'd think the people involved in trying to effect a switch from Pottstown to Limerick would give up.

But I'm willing to bet if they had to spend a little of their own money they'd soon shut up. It's okay to argue for a change as long as the taxpeyers' funds will be spent.

Let the objectors lose a penny and they'd be more than satisfied with the airport at Stowe.

Now you might wonder who I am to put my two cents in.

Well, I live under the approach to the airport. Planes buzz my house all day. But I don't mind 'em a bit.

I'm used to the noise.

In fact my kids don't even look up when one approaches.

No Kids in These Accidents

To the Editor: In reference to all this fuss about the accidents on Route 83. I wish the younger generation would take note that none of the drivers killed or involved in accidents recently was older men.

I'm so "ancient" that I have to take a physical examination this year to prove I'm able to drive. But in all the years I've been driving—close to 40—I've never been in a serious accident. I've never even scraped a fender.

I don't object to the examination but to the implication that we older drivers aren't safe.

It's the young ones who should be checked.

The Voice of Broadway

The Celebrities

BETTINA, THE French mannepuin who was in the car crash that ended Ali Khan's fabulous life, plans to come to New York in June. She hasn't decided whether she'll settle here or merely visit, but she wants to get away from the Paris and Riviera scenes that remind her of her great love.

Imogene Coca and King Donovan have set the date for the aisle-waltz: Sept. 28.

The cast of "Leave It To June" wrote, produced and performed in a revue titled "Light As A Feather" for agents and producers the other night at the Sheridan Square theatre. The girl who walked off with all the accolades was Dawn Nickerson—a sure thing to make it on Broadway, everyone agreed.

Politicians think Rep. Adam Clayton Powell is unbeatable in this area, despite his problems with the income tax investigators.

ADLAI STEVENSON'S fan mail has increased since his statement on the summit disaster. More and more admirers are urging him to declare himself a candidate.

Pianist Marian McPartland will record an album of Leonard Bernstein's tunes "live" from the Hickory House, and the maestro will supply the cover notes.

If there are any public officials willing to tear themselves away from the dramatic subject of bomb shelters and civilian "alerts", they might save a few lives temporarily by lighting the big excavations on Third avenue. Automobiles are disappearing into them almost every night, and the number of near-misses is staggering. Ask any cab driver.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DR. WILLIAM Franklin Graham, aged 41, is better known to you readers as Billy Graham, the evangelist.

When he held his Indianapolis campaign last Fall, I was invited to visit with him and later sit on the platform during his Sunday afternoon sermon.

Although I had listened to him many times via my radio, this was my first chance to hear him in person.

During our conversation in his study prior to his address, he said:

"Dr. Crane, I read your column widely and I must confess I often appropriate many of your ideas."

Notice his graceful use of the compliment club strategy on me.

"THANK YOU," I replied, "but you will recall Emerson's statement that 'His it is who says it best,' so don't hesitate to use my writings if they can be of help."

As we discussed the subject of public speaking methods, he said:

"Dr Crane, I was recently visiting the speech department in one of our colleges.

"The professor asked me if I had ever taken a course in public speaking, and I shook my head.

"Then he asked me what textbooks on public speaking I had read, and I had to confess I had never read a single one. So I am afraid I let him down somewhat," and Billy Graham smiled ruefully.

BILLY GRAHAM, however, is a superb orator, for he has brilliant ideas and presents them with sincerity and conviction, so his gestures arise spontaneously.

And, like a star salesman, he is "closing" all the time. He doesn't idly drift along, but keeps his audience subconsciously aware that he is heading for a goal.

You will seldom fall asleep under this kind of oratory. In order to understand it more clearly, just remember what happens when you are a passenger in an automobile.

As long as the driver stays in his own line of traffic, you may relax.

But as soon as he puls out to pass the car ahead, you feel the tension in the motor as it slips into passing gear.

Meanwhile, you become somewhat fascinated to see if the driver can get around the other car and slip back into his proper lane before meeting an oncoming auto, head-on.

Well, that sensation you get in the car when it is in passing gear, is like the subconscious "closing" underlying Billy Graham, as well as other great exhorters.

They don't "coast" or let their forensic motor grantly idle along the highway, but they are almost constantly in gear, so they grip the audience by their intensity of purpose.

They exhilarate because they accelerate.

Inside Television

By EVE STARR

STARR REPORT: If television is a remarkable medium, it is only because the United States is a remarkable country, as witness the extraordinary guest-star appearance on producer David Susskind's "Open End" interview show last Sunday night.

It was, of course, aired a week earlier in New York, with stations around the rest of the country getting it on a delayed basis.

I should think the most significant aspect of Vice President Richard Nixon's marathon three-and-a-half-hour appearance is the fact that he appeared at all.

FOR THE second highest elected official in the country to sit in a TV studio for three-and-a-half-hours and face all the questions asked by a highly articulate interviewer who left no doubt that he was a member of the opposite political party, is, to say the least, a quite remarkable demonstration of exactly what freedom of speech and of the press means in the United States.

It is as though Russia's number two man, Mikoyan, were to allow himself to be interviewed by an anti-Communist newsman in Moscow, a ridiculous daydream.

Regardless of one's political affiliation, Nixon's performance has to be admired. Needled almost unmercifully by Susskind he never once lost his composure, turned hard words away with soft ones and frequently, it appeared to me, made Susskind look a little ridiculous. Susskind spoke from voluminous notes. Nixon had not a single note. Only twice did he smilingly refuse to answer a question. One concerned naming a possible running mate, the other involved the merits of the various Democratic presidential candidates.

ON ALMOST all other questions, Nixon was frank, lucid and generally convincing. I got the impression that this was the kind of interview every candidate should undergo.

Making a prepared political speech of a half-hour's duration is one thing. Talking off the cuff for three-and-a-half-hours is quite another.

Much as I disliked Susskind's approach, it was nevertheless an effective one—but from Nixon's standpoint, not Susskind's. Susskind, who obviously was trying to make Nixon look bad, succeeded only in making him look good.

He constantly injected his own opinions and made frequent use of the first person pronoun, things no professional newsman would ever dream of doing.

But I will say this for the two of them. They kept me glued to my set from 10:15 p. m. until 1:50 a. m.—and it was worth every hour of sleep lost.

Interpreting The News

Good Will Trips Scare Russians

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Was Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev so impressed with President Eisenhower's ability to arouse good will among foreign peoples that he was actively afraid of having the President visit the Soviet Union?

Has the word gone out to the International Communists to stop the goodwill trips, as is now being tried in Japan?

Arrangement for an Eisenhower visit to the Soviet Union was made last year when Khrushchev was invited to the United States.

After that the President was received almost with adulation in South Asia and South America.

Khrushchev immediately tried to get back into the swim in South Asia, but found the water had turned very, very cold.

Under the cultural exchange program, American artists have been warmly received in Moscow.

So was the exhibit there at the fair despite the flareup between Khrushchev and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

It was enough to make the Communists nervous.

If Khrushchev was seeking an excuse to disrupt the summit conference because he saw he wasn't going to get anything there, was he also seeking an excuse to cancel his arrangement with Eisenhower even before the U2 incident?

There are those who attended the Paris conference who think so.

Now it appears that the demonstrations in Tokyo are primarily a Communist enterprise, and that they are directed as much or more against the President's scheduled visit as against the security treaty or the Japanese government.

Khrushchev has been busy for years trying to make other peoples consider him and the Soviet Union as the real peace force in the world, a force which has not succeeded purely because of opposition from the capitalist countries.

Eisenhower was rapidly erasing the picture Khrushchev was trying to draw. The President's sincerity reached even those who could not understand his words. Public demonstrations in India and elsewhere indicated the integrity of the United States was better understood than Americans had believed.

This was a serious thing for Khrushchev. He was already running risks with powerful forces at home which opposed the "soft line" he was using to sell the idea that Communist peace and prosperity was better than capitalist peace and prosperity.

The United States has accused him directly of being influenced by troubles at home.

He got a chance to claim the President and the United States were taking chances with peace. He played the tune for all it was worth, and more, and nobody knows yet how it may affect the history of the world.

Your Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A FEW months ago I wrote a column about bedwetting and what causes it.

Since then, several parents have written asking at what age a child can be expected to control his bladder through the night.

I always hesitate to cite a definite age for anything since seldom, if ever, are any two children alike.

Generally, however, most children acquire night-time bladder control between their third and fourth birthdays or before, although some youngsters wet their beds occasionally until the age of five.

Now there are a great many children, principally boys, who have enuresis—the medical term for bed-wetting—until the age of 12 and even 15.

Doctors estimate that about 16 out of every 100 boys between the ages of three and 16, suffer enuresis.

The problem sometimes is complicated by the fact that the child gains control of his bladder for several years and then abruptly begins wetting the bed again.

As I explained in my previous column, enuresis often can be traced to emotional distress or a feeling of insecurity on the part of the child.

Most youngsters bothered by bed-wetting are as concerned about it—and as embarassed—as their parents. Perhaps they are even more concerned, depending upon their age.

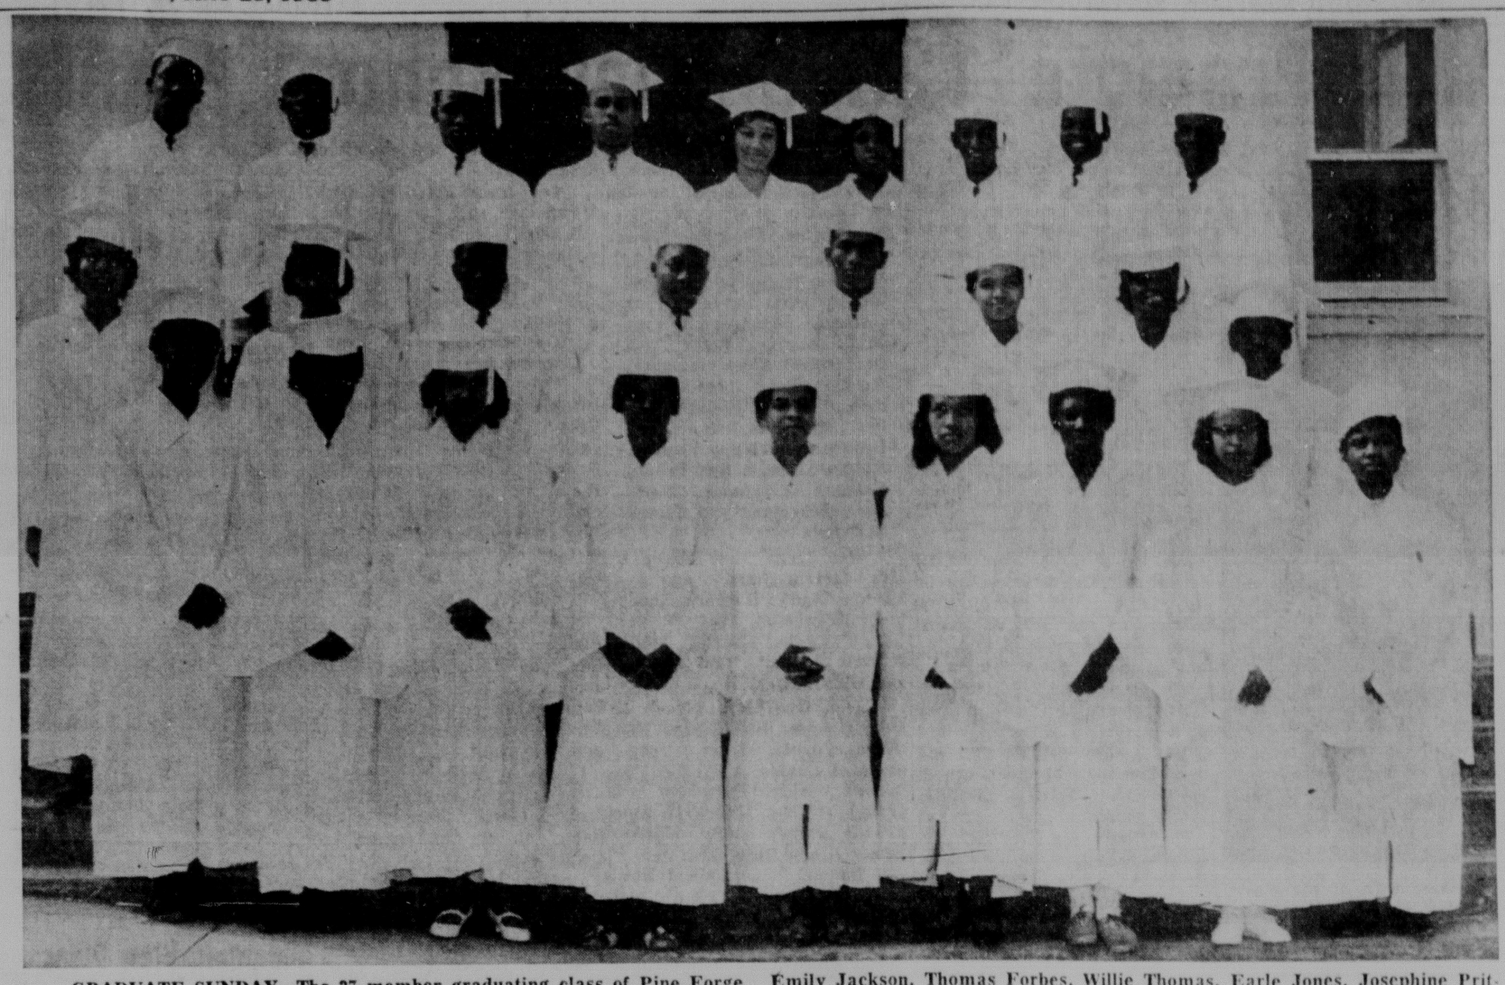

Spanking occasionally does some good, but usually it is ineffective, and sometimes is more harmful than helpful.

Limiting the intake of fluids after mid-afternoon might be of some help. And waking the child so he can go to the bathroom a couple of times a night might check the bed-wetting problem, but it certainly creates a sleep problem for both the child and his parents.

Consecration Service Starts Commencement At Pine Forge Institute

Graduation exercises for 27 Seniors of the Pine Forge Institute will be this weekend, Elder E. I. Watson, principal and manager of the Seventh-day Adventist secondary school announced.

The closing exercises of the school offers three traditional commencement features and a "Class Night" tonight.

Final examinations were given this week to all pupils. The entire school family is expected to participate in the graduation exercises.

The program got under way at 8 o'clock Friday night with a "consecration" service directed by the principal and the pastor of the Senior class, Willie G. L. Bethea. The main speaker was Elder Edward Dorsey, now pastor of the North Jersey district, and former instructor of Bible at the Institute, and pastor of the Pine Forge church.

WEEKLY WORSHIP services of the local Seventh-day Adventist church will be combined with the baccalaureate at 11 o'clock this morning. In charge of the service will be Elder C. B. Tivy, the Institute's Bible teacher, and pastor of the local Adventist church. The speaker will be Elder George Rainey of Washington, D. C., Allegheny conference evangelist.

The final graduation event will be tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, at which time the commencement speaker will be Elder Charles Lee Brooks, Philadelphia, pastor of the North Philadelphia and Elmwood churches.

Diplomas will be presented by Principal E. I. Watson, assisted by Mrs. Vivianne Jones, registrar.

The annual award for the "Student of the Year," valedictorian and salutatorian will go to Thomas J. Forbes, Rockaway, N.J., and Valerie Thomas, Baltimore, Md.

AN ANNUAL award given by the principal and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Watson, to the most outstanding boy and girl in industry will be presented to Willie G. L. Bethea, and Mamie Nell Pressey.

A yearly presentation of a portable typewriter made by the Levitz Furniture company to the member of the Junior class who writes the best essay on "Think" will be given to a pupil, as yet unnamed.

On hand for this special event will be Elder W. L. Cheatham, conference president and chairman of the Institute board, and Elder W. A. Thompson, secretary-treasurer. Elder A. V. Pinkney, conference educational secretary, gave the welcome.

An all-Senior participation program is scheduled for tonight at 9 o'clock when the traditional "Class Night" affair will be staged in the chapel of the school. In charge will be class president, Eugene Harmon, assisted by Thomas Forbes.

SCORES OF parents and friends are expected to converge on the campus for the commencement program. Other special programs listed include the alumni reunion and preschool registration of academy pupils for 1960-61.

Class officers include: Harmon, president; Forbes, vice president; Miss Thomas, secretary; Beverly DeShay, assistant secretary; Earl Jones, treasurer, and Willie Bethea, pastor.

Steelworker Head Cites Unemployment

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, said Friday unemployment in the steel industry is becoming acute. The union and management "will have to face up to a four-day week or a 30-hour week," he added.

"Despite the cost elements," McDonald told a USW regional conference, "we will have to find a way to meet them. We simply cannot allow unemployment to keep creeping up."

Words of Ruth Have Special Meaning

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on the wives of Pottstown ministers.)

It is perhaps in the classic poetry of Ruth, in the Old Testament, that one can find the best expression of selfless devotion.

It is a type of devotion required for the life of a minister's wife.

Ruth said, "whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God."

While the words of Ruth have meaning for many pastors' wives, they must have special application for Marie Smoker, wife of the Rev. John L. Smoker, Salem EUB pastor.

THIRTEEN years ago Mrs. Smoker tore up roots grown through child- and adulthood in Lancaster county and came to Pottstown with her husband and family.

For a woman reared in the honest friendliness and scenic beauty of Pennsylvania Dutch country, goodbyes cannot be easy.

She admits, "I had been in Lancaster county all my life, and I didn't want to leave. But then, we couldn't have come to a nicer place. Pottstown has been a very fine place to live."

The Rev. and Mrs. Smoker met while he was pastor at Centerville United Brethren church in Lancaster county.

TWO YEARS after they were married the pastor was reassigned to a parish in Neffsville, Lancaster county. During a five year stay there, Mrs. Smoker joined in her husband's work as a church was built and a parsonage was purchased.

In 1938 the Rev. Smoker was again reassigned, to Intercourse, still in Lancaster county. That appointment lasted nine years until the couple came to Pottstown.

Activity has been a watchword and guidance of youth an unending interest for Mrs. Smoker.

The couple's first son, Richard, was born in 1933. Now living at 501 North Charlotte street, he is married to the former Elizabeth Focht, daughter of Mrs. Carrie Focht, 519 Spruce street, and has a son. A teacher of the Sixth grade at Ruppert elementary school, he is also organist and choir director in his father's church.

A daughter, Joanne, was born in 1940 and lives at home. A 1958 graduate of Pottstown High school, she is a stenographer at the Stanley G. Flagg company, Stowe. She is a member of the Senior choir of the Salem church.

THE SMOKER'S third child, James, was born in 1943, lives at home and is in the Eleventh grade of Pottstown High. Taking the college preparatory course, he hopes to continue his study at Albright college, Reading. He too, sings in the Senior choir directed by his older brother.

HOBBY TIME—Mrs. Marie Smoker, wife of the Rev. John L. Smoker, pastor of Salem EUB church, relaxes at the end of a busy day with one of her hobbies, hat decorating. She learned the craft in a course of the Homemaker's Holiday club of the YWCA. Mrs. Smoker is a member of the board of directors of the "Y".

Work in youth guidance has not been limited to the Smoker home. Mrs. Smoker is children's work director of the church and serves on the children's work council of the Eastern Pennsylvania conference of the EUB church.

She is an occasional substitute Sunday school teacher, and her husband points out, "She has done all my secretarial work on a volunteer basis, ever since we were married—and that's a lot!" He added, "And she's an excellent housekeeper and cook."

Another article in this series will appear next Saturday.)

Ceremonies promoting 125 children and teen-agers from their Sunday school classes of the past year to higher classes will be in the Christ Episcopal church during the family hour service starting at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Each of the youngsters, comprising the 13 youth Sunday school classes of the church, will be presented with a certificate and then received into his new class.

The list of promotion follows:

Fifteen from class of Mrs. William Pengelly to class of Mrs. William Fryer (age 4)—Randy Strange, Mary Marcincavage, Blake Tuttle, Betty Jane Grainger, Robert Ritner, James Wendell, Christine Keough, Renee Bergeron, Bonnie Brower, Christine Buzby, Robert Strange, Ray Pusch, Douglas Rightnour, Doris Jane Ackerman and James Gottshall.

Nine from Mrs. Fryer to Mrs. Melvin Stoudt (age 5)—Sharon Mann, Barbara Shelly, Mitzi Ackerman, Cindy Prince, Randy Eagle, Charles Smith, Willard Benner, Paul Johnson and Glen Kuszyk.

Daily Problems are Basic To Teachings of Jesus

The Golden Text

Consider the Lilies.

"Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."—Matthew 6:20-21.

Warnings Prevalent Regarding Misplacing of Primal Emphasis

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

I AM introducing this lesson by quoting from the Rev. Wilbur M. Smith's Peloubet's Notes. He writes: "One of the great basic factors of our Lord's teaching is that He talks about the problems of ordinary life, and in doing so, He frankly and constantly faces the realities of daily life, the need for making a living, our relationship to money and property and to others with whom we live and work. He talks about food, drink, labor, wages, marriage as well as the glorious themes of God, salvation and eternity. In the verses assigned to our lesson, we see something of our Lord's teaching about our relationship to earthly possessions, and His warnings regarding the danger and tragic consequences of putting primal emphasis upon the things of this earth."

Jesus said: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal."—Matthew 6:19.

Don't we sometimes read in our newspapers of men or women who hoard money in their homes, and thieves do break in and steal?

What was Christ's teaching on this subject? "But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."—Matthew 6:19-21.

"Christ does not say it is wrong to lay up. The common capacity to which He is here appealing is that of the passion for possession," writes G. Campbell Morgan, in Peloubet's Select Notes.

"The worldly man thinks he himself holds these things; but the Christian starts by saying, 'I am not the possessor of these things, I merely have them on lease and they do not really belong to me. I cannot take my wealth with me, I cannot take my gifts with me. In a sense all these things are given to me, but I am a custodian of these things.' And at once the great question then is, 'How can I use these things to the glory of God? . . . . It is to Him I will have to render an account of my stewardship of all the things with which He has blessed me.'"

We cannot send bags of gold to heaven, for heaven does not need them, but we need not hoard our wealth (if we have accumulated it by hard work, as millions of people all over the world have done and are doing today). We can help good and worthy causes, or friends and relatives who are needy.

Jesus Christ said: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon (money)."—Matthew 6:24.

"Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?"—Matthew 6:25.

Then Christ reminded them that God fed the fowls of the air and created the lilies of the field which show such glorious colorings that "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

"Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, what shall we drink? or, wherewithal shall we be clothed? For your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things."—Matthew 6:31-32.

"But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."—Matthew 6:33.

We have not space for the parable Christ told of the man who had worked hard, accumulated great possessions and sat down to enjoy them, but whom God told that he would die that night. The teacher can tell the story if there is time.

Faith and service to God and man are emphasized, and a life that is dedicated to Christ's teachings.

Treasures in Heaven — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Matthew 6:19-34; Luke 12:13-34.

By Alfred J. Buescher

"Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal," Christ said, "but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven."—Matthew 6:19-20.

"Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat . . . nor what ye shall put on. Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap . . . yet your heavenly Father feedeth them."—Matthew 6:25-26.

"No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."—Matthew 6:24.

"But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow."—Matthew 6:33.

Some Simple Facts On Funeral Merchandise

● THERE are few people, we venture to say, who have any real knowledge of funeral merchandise or the factors that give it its intrinsic values. Actually there are two essential functions. One is protection—an obvious and understandable use. The second is appearance, since it becomes part of the Memory Picture which endures long after the funeral is over. In both of these functions quality of materials, honest workmanship and other qualities have an essential role. The prices we charge are based on just such factors and we will be glad to explain them at any time.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Galatians	5	1
Monday	Psalms	119	44-48
Tuesday	I Peter	2	13-20
Wednesday	Romans	8	31-39
Thursday	Romans	12	1-9
Friday	Romans	12	10-21
Saturday	Romans	15	1-7

Our future presidents and prime ministers — from what spiritual heritage shall they arise?

The ultimate giants of science and industry — what faith will they profess?

The fathers and mothers of our grandchildren and great-grandchildren — what convictions will be taught in their homes?

All this we are deciding today . . . in our churches . . . in our families.

For one generation can bequeath only to the next that which it, itself, possesses.

Our own religious life, our own determination to provide our children with thorough spiritual training, our own faithfulness in filling our churches with families — these positive purposes, expressed Sunday after Sunday, will mold TOMORROW'S LEADERS.

Census Shows

six boroughs was indicative of the suburban drain on metropolitan centers throughout the country, and can be expected by Pottstown in the next decade, according to Robert H. McKinney Jr., borough manager.

"The next census might show a loss (for Pottstown) since the borough is saturated with houses and there isn't room for the construction of many more homes within the borough limits," he reported Friday after checking the census figures.

McKinney pointed to the fact that the borough's population increase has only been 706 since the special census in 1957, and called the increase "discouraging."

Horace Seidel, chairman of the planning commission that predicted the 1960 figure of 26,000, disagreed with McKinney. He called the increase "encouraging," and feels that the borough has room for nearly 4000 more residents by 1980.

The planning commission report, issued in January, 1959, discussed suburban population growth as a result of emigration from metropolitan areas.

The report noted that "while growth in Pottstown and its surrounding municipalities has been persistent . . . the region as a whole has grown more slowly than Montgomery county."

"Much of the county's growth," it concluded, "derives from suburban expansion of Philadelphia, whereas growth of the Pottstown area seems mostly to have been based on the local economy and potential for natural population increase."

THE REPORT forecast a maximum of 9349 dwelling units in the borough by 1980, "assuming that most of the open land west of Manatawny creek will be developed in industrial uses."

"It is thus doubtful that the borough's population will ever exceed 30,000 persons," the report conceded. "And a fairly stable population total varying between 28,000 and 30,000 can reasonably be expected after 1975."

The increased population will command a slight increase in funds from the annual distribution of the liquid fuel tax by the State. At the current time, the borough receives $1.11 for each person in the borough.

The increase in 1961, if the rate remains constant, will be $783. An increase was given after the special census in 1957 showed a population of 25,360.

The largest population increase among area boroughs was recorded by Trappe, up to 1262 from a 1950 population of less than 800.

THE SECOND largest was recorded by Collegeville with an increase from 1900 to 2252. In the 1950 census, the two boroughs exchanged positions, Collegeville showing a 95 percent increase and Trappe a second-place, 56 percent increase.

Other area boroughs in Montgomery county showed smaller increases, but ones that were still indicative of the move to the small town from the metropolitan hub of the area.

They are: Royersford, up to 3995 from 3862; Pennsburg, up to 1709 from 1625; Red Hill, up to 1073 from 914; Schwenksville up to 621 from 563 and Green Lane, up to 566 from 550.

Among the Pottsgrove township's the largest population growth was shown by Upper Pottsgrove. Census figures show the township with 1955 persons, an increase of nearly 800 from the 1950 census figure of 1173, and more than double the 1940 mark of 804.

West Pottsgrove squeezed out Lower Pottsgrove by 27 persons with an inucrease of 470. Figures for the two townships are: West Pottsgrove, up to 3477 from 3007; and Lower Pottsgrove, up to 3832 from 3389.

In other area townships:

Lower Fredick showed an increase to 2109 from a 1950 figure of 1620; Upper Frederick showed an increase to 1153 from 891; Perkiomen showed an increase to 1986 from 1211; Skippack showed an increase to 4733 from 3843; Upper Hanover showed an increase to 2256 from 1762; Douglass showed an increase to 3079 from 2046; and Upper Providence showed an increase to 5597 from 4486.

Ohio Starts Legal

citizens who banded together to raise the money.

"Walters had another $3000 lined up — but he learned that we were wise to him and skipped town before we could nab him.

"He got away with the $3000 he had already collected. Those who were 'taken' never saw their money again."

SHERIFF DAVISON said one of the victims of the swindle was a man who had worked all his life in the oil business.

This man said Walters' knowledge of the methods used in drilling for oil and the intricacies of oil stocks was so complete he never questioned the possibility of a hoax.

Walters spent three weeks in Auglaize county in the latter part of 1958.

He apparently decided to leave the area when a woman whom he had promised to make rich through speculating in oil snapped his picture because she "wanted a remembrance of the wonderful man who is going to do so much for us."

The sheriff said Walters "came wthin one hour of being caught in Mississippi about two years ago. Another time he sneaked out of Michigan just half a day before authorities were prepared to pick him up."

SHERIFF DAVISON said Walters went to fantastic lengths to preserve the appearance of a legitimate businessman.

One fortunate man offered Walters $500 for a half share in his oil empire, the sheriff said, but Walters turned him down on the grounds that "you buy a whole share or none at all."

This, then, is the man who spent the past two weeks peddling dreams to farmers and businessmen in the Landis Store area.

So far as is known at this time, Walters was unsuccessful in getting money from anyone in this area although he did approach several persons and created widespread interest in his claim that oil lay 7000 feet beneath the ground near Landis Store.

Chief Hahn said "in another week or two he may have persuaded ten or 20 persons to give him $1000 each. Apparently we caught him before anyone got hurt."

MRS. RICHARD HOUCK, wife of the proprietor of the Boyertown inn, Boyertown, said Walters was very friendly and courteous during his two-week stay at the inn.

"But we all wondered what he did for a living," she said. "He just sat in the lobby or on the front porch reading magazines. Frequently he mentioned that he had had lunch with a 'client,' but he never hinted at what kind of business he was in."

Mrs. Houck continued, "Wherever he went he took his briefcase with him. Even if he just went to the drug store to get more magazines, the briefcase went along."

The briefcase, Chief Hahn said, had "nothing of any account in it."

It was on the front porch of the Houcks' inn that police found the genial Walters Thursday afternoon and arrested him on a fugitive warrant charging him with fraudulent oil stock sales in two Ohio counties.

Walters was described Friday night by a spokesman at the county prison as a "fine" prisoner.

"He's very courteous and polite," the spokesman said. "He was out in the yard with the other prisoners today, and he seemed to be well liked by everyone."

Local Woman Hurt In 2 Car Crash

A Pottstown woman was injured Friday at 10 p. m. in a two-car accident on South Washington street between High and Apple streets.

Jannie R. Brant, 605 Water street, complained of a leg injury and said she will have it X-rayed at Pottstown hospital.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Monroe Brant of the same address. The auto was in collision with one operated by Jose A. Maldonado, 434 North Fifth street.

Both cars had to be towed from the scene.

Patrolman William McCann investigated.

Picnic Treat Could Become Treatment

you catch it. That is the easiest and cheapest way to cure the illness," declared Dr. Wennersten.

He explained that "too many people put too much junk on a poison ivy rash. Instead of helping matters they irritate the condition, so home cures often are the most expensive," he declared.

But Dr. Wennersten did recommend a preventative for poison ivy. That is a protective cream, as inexpensive as sun tan oil.

Dr. Wennersten also noted the rash can be prevented by injections or by swallowing a special liquid.

"Perhaps the best ivy poison preventative is to look for plants with clusters of three shinny leaves. Then stay clear of them, because that is what an ivy poison plant looks like," said Dr. Wennersten.

He noted that a bottle of insect repellent carried on a picnic also is a mark of people with forethought.

IF A PICKNICKER becomes "bait" for ticks, Dr. Wennersten warned that the ticks must be removed within six hours. Otherwise infection will result.

"A simple and effective way to rid yourself of ticks is to put the heat on the insect. A lighted cigaret will force the tick to loosen its grip and then you can pull him off," noted Dr. Wennersten.

Worried about snake bites on a picnic?

"There's no problem here with poisonous snakes. Those snakes are so rare that their scarcity ends any worries about them," said Dr. Wennersten.

the 45-minute annual service, now sponsored by the Pottstown Veterans council. Three hundred persons attended last year's commemoration.

Speaker tomorrow will be Col. Fred H. Kelley, 63 North Hanover street. Col. Kelley, a veteran of both World Wars, said his talk will draw attention to the sacrifice of America's war dead. The speech also will pinpoint challenges to Americans in times of peace.

Wreaths and Colonial flags will be placed on the Revolutionary war graves by Mahanatawny chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution; Post 780, Veterans of Foreign Wars; the George A. Amole and the Harriet L. Kulp posts of the American Legion; the Pottstown post of Jewish Var Veterans and the Amvets.

THE REV. WALLACE Flood, pastor of First Baptist church, will lead spectators in prayer. Music will be by the Pottstown band. Fair skies are forecast, but the program will be in the auditorium of Pottstown High school in case of rain. The entire event will be prefixed by a 10:45 a. m. service in Transfiguration Lutheran church.

The largest Memorial day parade in at least three years will be Monday starting at 8:45 a. m. from the Legion home, King and Franklin streets.

About 600 persons will participate in the parade and in ceremonies at the Pottstown postoffice and at East End cemetery. Brian Boyer, pupil at Pottstown High school, will recite the Gettysburg address at the cemetery service.

The solemn occasion will be matched with care-free holiday spirit around the borough. Industry will be at a standstill and public and parochial schools will be closed Monday.

Banks also will be closed and 90 percent of postoffice employes will have a holiday. Postmaster J. Alfred Marquet noted there will be no mail deliveries on Monday, except for special deliveries.

The postoffice lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., but there will be no mail service.

man, George Wentzel and Carolyn M. Longacre.

THE TRIP included a visit to the United Nations building, Rockefeller center, other places of interest and dinner at a hotel.

The Elementary safety patrol contingent was being rewarded for its year's work in guarding other children going to and from school.

About 250 pupils traveled to Hershey in six buses, visiting the State Police barracks there. The children toured the buildings and stables and saw a show including performing police dogs.

From there the children proceeded to Hershey Amusement park, and returned to the borough at 6:15 p. m.

THE TOUR was organized mainly by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gephart of the safety patrol auxiliary. It was financed by the Parent Teachers association and the auxiliary.

Accompanying the Elementary pupils were sponsors from each school: Mrs. Isabel Rex—St. Clair, Mrs. Elizabeth Hower—Rupert, Charles M. Deichert—Franklin, Mrs. Helen Heydt—Washington, Russell Shellenberger—Jefferson, Mrs. Irma Engel—Lincoln and Miss Edith Yocum—West End.

Also, Mrs. Ethel McConnell, school nurse; Police Chief Harold E. Hahn; Patrolman Earl Rhoads and State Police.

Upper Pottsgrove Panel Okays Record Budget

A record $227,667.25 budget was tentatively adopted by the Upper Pottsgrove School board Friday night.

The largest item in the budget is the $198,361.15 payment to the jointure. The rest is for rental fees, general control, and fixed charges.

Bills totaling $7645.80 were paid. There was no receipts.

W. Drexel Pierce, president, was in charge of the meeting.

School Board Honors Pupils

The Pottstown Board of Education honored 51 Junior and Senior High school pupils at the fourth annual Honor Roll banquet in the high school.

Miss Harriett M. Styer, an English teacher on sabbatical leave from Rittenhouse Junior High school, Norristown, was the featured speaker.

The Junior High pupils, 30 in all, received wall plaques with medallions, and the Pottsgrove Optimists gave statuettes to the 21 Senior High honor pupils.

The pupils are all members of the National Honor society through their academic achievements.

The committee in charge of the banquet was made up of A. Edna Hutt, Mrs. Julia Clemmons, Miriam Ludwig, Nelson Grofe and W. O. Smith.

Superintendent Havard Fosnocht welcomed the guests and H. Bert Shaw, school board president, introduced the other school board members. Stanley I. Davenport Jr., Senior High school principal, was master of ceremonies.

The Junior High school will be host for the occasion next year.

LINES WERE strung from as far away as the northeast corner of High and Charlotte streets, forcing traffic to be re-routed along King street.

Crowds from the shopping district, attracted by the huge clouds of smoke, surged into the area, hampering firemen. Rope barriers had to be strung by fire police and a seven-man traffic detail under the command of Police Chief Harold E. Hahn.

Chief Hahn estimated the crowds in the thousands. At first driven back by the acrid smoke, they surged forward again as the smoke began clearing.

Reports that the first floor of the two story structure contained drums of kerosene caused firemen to fear an explosion. Company officials later reported that the reports were unfounded.

THE FIRST floor of the structure, once used as a pattern making section of the plant, was loaded with obsolete parts from old conveyor systems.

The second floor of the structure, which fronts 20 feet on South street and is separated from the main plant by a 50-foot wide yard, contained wood used for moulding patterns.

March-Brownback manufactures iron castings. Company officials said the building hasn't been used for making patterns for approximately ten years, and were unable to estimate the damage.

The walls of the building on the east side were brick; those on the west, facing the main plant wood, and tin covered by tarpaper. It was the tarpaper, Fire Chief Moser, noted, that caused the acrid smoke.

Firemen were forced to chop holes in the roof and through the brick to get at the fire from the east side. Firemen on the west side opened large windows on the second floor with long pikes.

The fire was declared under control at 7:33 p. m., slightly more than a half-hour after the first and general alarms were sounded. The first alarm was sounded by an unidentified resident of the area. The general alarm sounded box 1513.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Diminutive Geraniums

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

A group of geraniums which are miniature or dwarf varieties are relative newcomers. Many of these tiny geraniums are less than six inches high and seldom more than a foot high even after five or six years of age. These dwarfs are particularly appealing, with their tiny rosettes of foliage which seem to be either dark, with rich color patterns, or a light green.

These small geraniums are of special interest where they can be seen close at hand. A group in a wicker basket is a conversation piece for the terrace.

Shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph are a leaf and flower of Black Vesuvius.

Vesuvius has a well-zoned leaf which is prominent enough to class it with the colored-leaved varieties. Its large scarlet or flame-red flowers and the dark green of its foliage have given it the name of Black Vesuvius. This geranium is especially beautiful at night under artificial light.

A leaf of one called Pixie is shown to give its approximate size. It is a true dwarf and grows only six inches high. The flowers are coral pink.

Tom Thumb geraniums, Pigmy and Little Darling, are especially good.

Fungus Disease Strikes Trees

HARRISBURG — Conditions this Spring have been nearly ideal for development of anthracnose disease of shade and ornamental trees.

Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture plant pathologists said that white oak, sycamore, horse chestnut, poplar and willow trees are showing the spotting and blackening of leaves that are symptoms of the fungus disease.

An open Winter, a delayed Spring with March and April temperatures lower than normal, moderate to high rainfall in many days of May and reduced sunshine in April and May preventing rapid evaporation of moisture are the conditions most favorable for development of anthracnose.

Anthracnose fungi are spread principally by rain, and only slightly or not at all by dry winds or dew. The rain releases the spores, spreads them around and provides the free moisture necessary for spore generation. For this reason, the spread of the disease is generally from the top of the tree down.

All foliage on a tree can be lost, but trees generally will sprout a second set of leaves.

PRUNE FORSYTHIA

Forsythias should be pruned immediately after blooming so that new growth may take the place of some of the oldest stalks. Magnolias, flowering dogwoods, cherries, almonds and cornelian cherries normally do not require pruning.

REA Marks Anniversary Of First Line Installation

HARRISBURG, (AP)—The U. S. Rural Electrification administration celebrates its 25th anniversary in July, marking a growth from 400 miles of power line in its first year to nearly 1½ million miles today.

In Pennsylvania the first rural electric cooperative was Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative association incorporated, Cambridge Springs, Crawford county.

The cooperative got its loan May 13, 1936, less than a year after the first loan was extended July 22, 1935, to the Crisp Farmers Co-operative, Cordele, Ga.

SINCE inauguration of the REA program in Pennsylvania, the government-backed system has provided some 17,000 miles of power lines, supplying lights and power to more than 75,000 rural homes.

Pennsylvania has 13 cooperatives, which have borrowed a total of $38,354,000 from the REA. To date they have repaid $9,203,000 in principal, $5,908,000 in interests and $1,172,000 in advance payments.

But the observance of the first REA loan underlines a growing contention in the State and nation between public, government-financed and private power organizations.

Historically, the REA provided loans for cooperative, nonprofit private organizations to extend power lines to areas where private power companies felt they could not profitably operate.

THE GOVERNMENT, itself, got into the power business in the Tennessee Valley authority.

Private suppliers have resented the incursion of the government in both types of activity. Lately, they have concentrated their fire more heavily on the low interest rate for REA loans.

"Just because the present administration has brought about high interest rates on the money the U. S. treasury must borrow at this time, is no justification for imposing a high rate on the REA cooperatives," replied former Congressman Stephen Pace, Georgia Democrat.

He wrote the legislation setting the present 2 percent interest rate. Presently, the government must borrow funds at rates ranging between 4 and 5 percent.

In Pennsylvania the agitation may come to a head in western counties, where Army engineers are working on plans for the Kinzua dam project, Warren county.

A Harrisburg political source reported pressure has been put on the Army to include power generators in the project to supply either public power or supplies for REA systems.

The engineers have not yet commented on the report.

If the government should follow through on such a proposal, it would be a sure bet Pennsylvania's power companies would take strong action to oppose it.

Weeder's Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

You can strike a telling blow against insect damage to your home orchard if you will remember three things.

—The use of an effective pesticide.

—The proper timing of applications of the pesticide.

—Thorough coverage with the spray or dust.

Application of these three steps will provide reasonable freedom from insect and disease damage.

Effective, one-package, general purpose pesticides are available at your garden store. The mixtures should contain the same essential ingredients: malathion, methoxychlor and captan, in fairly equal parts. The label will tell you what is inside.

Of course you can buy the ingredients separately and mix them at home if you prefer to do it the hard way, or find it less expensive.

The job will be easy if you have dwarf trees and a power sprayer, or a shoulder tank-sprayer and a small step ladder. It's easy for me to say this with a degree of smugness—because all the fruit trees on our small lot are semi-dwarf or dwarf varieties.

Agronomists are fortifying fungicide sprays with antibiotics such as streptomycin or agrimycin in tests to give longer protection to some plants that suffer from mildew and other ailments.

One of the major challenges to entomologists is the ability of some major insect pests of fruits and vegetables to develop marked resistance to chemical sprays and dusts.

The approach to the problem is through use of bacteria and viruses that produce diseases in certain insects with no harmful effects to people and other warm-blooded animals.

Soil Moisture At Surplus Level

A second week of heavy rains put soil moisture at surplus levels over most of the Commonwealth, the State Crop reporting service said in its weekly crop and weather roundup.

The eastern and southwestern localities were the only areas to report soil moisture as adequate. In most other parts of the State field work was slowed to a snail's pace and farmers kept busy with indoor chores.

Sweet corn was planted on light soils in most areas.

Early potatoes are up in all areas and a few dry days are needed for cultivation. Growth has been slow because of cool weather and lack of sunshine.

DIVIDE FOXGLOVES

Foxgloves, if treated as perennials, can be divided in the Spring. It is advisable to keep new plants coming along from seed.

WATER BEANS

Feed and water beans generously. They produce over a longer period when fed. Water enough to give equivalent of one inch of rain during the Summer when rain is scarce—thus they will continue to produce abundantly.

POISONOUS LEAVES

The leaves of rhubarb should never be used for food purposes. Authorities claim that their high oxalic acid content makes them poisonous for human use.

Second Annual Memorial Day Fete Planned for Kenilworth Residents

In an effort to keep Kenilworth residents away from crowded highways and to enable neighbors and friends to "enjoy fellowship and community spirit right in their own backyard," a special program has been planned.

The event, the second annual Memorial Day fete sponsored by the Kenilworth Playground association, will take place Monday at the playground starting at 1:30 p. m.

Invocation will be given by the Rev. D. Howard Keiper, pastor of the Brethren church.

The welcome address will be given by William Scherfel Sr. Mr. Scherfel was one of the men among a group of residents responsible for the start of the playground.

The ground was secured by the men and is now deeded to North Coventry school board.

A flag raising ceremony will be conducted by the scout troops sponsored by the association.

The flag which will be raised for this season is a gift of Arlington L. Freese presented in memory of his son, Arlington Jr., who was killed during World War Two.

R. Newman Cresswell, son-in-law of Mr. Freese, is president of the playground association.

A concert by North Coventry Elementary school band will be given at 2:15 p. m., under the direction of B. Vernon Brown. At 3 p. m., a game period for all ages is planned. Prizes will be awarded.

Games will be supervised by Reginald Burtt and George Rantz Sr.

A family style picnic supper is scheduled for 5 p. m. A ball game between married and single men will begin at 6:30 p. m.

Arrangements for the day are being handled by the recreation committee of the association: William Reazor, chairman, and Stephen Klaptosky, Reginald Burtt, George Rantz Sr., Alyce Lloyd, Dorothy Ayres, and Virginia Creswell.

Youngsters who will appear in the band concert are as follows: flutes, Linda Bond, Barbara Fritsche, Betsy Scherfel, Keith Nyman, John Gerhart; clarinets, Nancy Henry, William Shaud, Judy Lengel, Frank Sabo, Melvin Randle, Janice Ellwanger, Cheryl Peck.

Also, Cheryl Harding, Carol Saylor, Susan Barr, Mary Walbert, Terry Crater, Stanley Cooper, Gary Lukas, John Sabo, John Ellwanger, Robert Kalis, Philip DeAngelo; saxophones, Donald Lemke, Steven Ryznak, Richard Krause; French horn, Deane Cressman.

And, trumpets, Gary Heffner, David Chonka, Etta Lichtley, James Goodhart, Philip Buckwalter; trombones, Neal Burtner, Richard Bealer, Richard Neiman, Barry Oliver, Robert Ashworth, Barry Berger; bells, Linda Keim; drums, Bill Grim, Burl Burleigh, Geoffrey Tyson and Kent Seibold.

Luther Lee Lengel officiated at the service in the presence of 175 guests. A reception followed at Keystone firehall, Boyertown. Mrs. Weil, the former Nancy Griesemer, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Griesemer, Boyertown RD 2. Mr. Weil is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. Weil, Boyertown RD 1.

Fellowship Class Names Chairmen Of Committees

The Christian Fellowship class of St. Luke's United Church of Christ conducted its reorganization meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson, Evansburg, with Mrs. Edward Asbert as the co-hostess.

The new president of the class, Gerald Swavely, announced the following committee chairmen: Membership, Mrs. Andrew Jackson; ways and means, Andrew Jackson; program, Mrs. Karl Poley; flowers, Mrs. C. F. Donahue Jr. and projects, Mrs. J. Latimer Hoopes; special committee for Summer activities, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ashenfelter.

Plans were made for the annual class weekend at Camp Fernbrook in September and the annual family picnic in August. The members also voted to purchase a table for the projector, which the class had previously presented to the church and also additional chairs for the Nursery department.

Present at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Swavely, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lesher, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crist Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dilliplane, Mrs. David Cooley, Mrs. George Snader, Mrs. Karl Poley, Mrs. Donald Ashenfelter, J. Latimer Hoopes and the hosts.

15-Year Reunion Plans Announced By Committee

Final plans for the 15-year reunion of the class of 1945, Pottstown High school, were made at a meeting of the planning committee at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Bohner, Township line road, Sanatoga, Friday night.

The event in the form of a dinner-dance, is slated for Saturday, June 4, at the Die Casters' club. A get-acquainted hour is scheduled from 6 to 7 p. m.

Joe Mack and his band will provide the music for dancing. The color scheme will be crimson and gold, class colors.

It was announced that 125 reservations are in at present.

Committees include: decorations, Mrs. John Kurtz, Mrs. Gill Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bush; reservations, Rosemary Chaplin; games, Mrs. Kenneth Bohner and Mrs. Thurman Weikel and program, Mrs. Richard Henricks, Mrs. John Bieleski and Robert Maimone.

William Fryer Re-elected Head Of Quinter Class

William H. Fryer was re-elected president of the James Quinter class of Parker Ford Church of the Brethren at a bi-monthly meeting in Brethren Fellowship building.

Also re-elected to office was Charles W. Gohl, vice president. Others named were Mrs. Robert M. Latshaw, secretary, and Mrs. Robert M. Pennypacker, treasurer.

Teacher of the class, the Rev. A. S. Alderfer, opened the session with scripture reading and prayer.

A program for the afternoon of "Bieber Sunday" was discussed. The event is planned for June 26. At that time the Rev. and Mrs. Charles M. Bieber and their family will be all day guests at the church.

Missionaries to Nigeria, Africa, the Biebers plan to leave for that station, July 9.

A wiener roast is planned for the next meeting in July at the church pavilion.

Following adjournment, a buffet luncheon was served by Mr. and Mrs. William Fryer and Mr. and Mrs. Enos L. Fryer.

Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert High, Mr. and Mrs. John Malenke, the Rev. Alderfer, Mrs. Robert Pennypacker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Latshaw, Ray Willauer, Mrs. Charles Gohl, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. William Fryer and Mr. and Mrs. Enos Fryer.

Hat Social Held During Meeting of Ladies Auxiliary

A hat social followed the regular meeting of the Ladies auxiliary of the Philadelphia Fire company in the firehall.

Prizes were awarded to nicest hat, Mrs. Jean Miller and smallest hat, Mrs. Gladys Ulrich. Pig-in-the-box was won by Mrs. Pearl Stufflet, door prize by Mrs. Nancy Bodnar and candy jar prize, Mrs. Jean Miller.

The auxiliary voted to give a monetary gift to the Salvation Army.

The social committee for June will be: Mrs. Gladys Fegley, Mrs. Marie Scheetz and Mrs. Gladys Davis. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jean Miller, Mrs. Gladys Ulrich and Charlotte Hunsinger.

Thirteen members attended the meeting.

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mourar, 518 North Hanover street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jacqueline, to John C. Garges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linford Garges, Sellersville. Miss Mourar is a graduate of Pottstown High school with the class of 1958, and is employed by the Lansdale Tube company, Spring City. Procession, Graveside Services Planned by Caffrey Legionaires

Walter T. Caffrey American Legion post, Spring City, announced plans completed for the annual Memorial Day service.

The ex-servicemen's unit will be joined by Liberty Fire company for two services, in Zion's cemetery Monday morning. The firemen will gather around their Memorial marker for their service following the Legion service.

With the Rev. G. Willis Marquette, pastor of Spring City Methodist church, as speaker, the American Legion service will be at 10 a. m. at the graveside of the late Pvt. Walter T. Caffrey, in whose honor the post was named.

The procession to the site of the service will form at 9:30 a. m., at the entrance to the cemetery.

THE PROGRAM will include a recitation by Reddy Lessig, Parker Ford, the post mascot, followed by the firing of three volleys over the grave.

A wreath will be placed on the grave of Mrs. Thomas Caffrey, mother of Pvt. Caffrey, by the Gold Star Mothers.

Taking part in the procession to the graveside will be members of the post, Ladies' auxiliary and aid, Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops and Spring-Ford Junior High school band.

Following the Legion service, the procession will re-form and march to the Fire company marker for the firemen's service, scheduled for approximately 10:30 a. m.

AT THE conclusion of the two services in Zion's cemetery, the American Legion post will proceed to St. Mary's cemetery, Black Rock, for the annual service at the graveside of Bernard McKernan, the last survivor of the charge of the Light Brigade in the Crimean war.

George Howard Dies In Hospital

George W. Howard, 80, husband of Bertha (Garber) Howard, died Friday at 9 a.m., in Phoenixville hospital, where he was a patient one week. He had been ill several months.

He was born at King-of-Prussia, son of the late Harry G., and Amelia (Wagoner) Howard, but lived in this area all his life. A well-known farmer, he retired 15 years ago.

He was a member of Zion's Lutheran church, where he served on the vestry the past 30 years, and also served on the cemetery board.

He was a member of Vincent Lodge 762 Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Spring City; Kimberton Grange, Ridge Fire company and Liberty Fire company, Spring City.

HE IS survived by his wife and a brother, Charles Howard, Phoenixville.

With the Rev. Charles E. Mertz, pastor of Zion's Lutheran church, officiating, funeral services will be at the Nelson Funeral home, 331 New street, Spring City, Tuesday at 2 p.m. Interment will be in Zion's cemetery.

BIBLE CHURCH TO DEDICATE NEW BUILDING

$25,000 Structure Is Group's First Parsonage

Royersford Bible Fellowship church, which has never had a parsonage in Royersford will have a special dedication service for the new $25,000 brick structure tomorrow at 3 p. m.

The Rev. F. B. Hertzog, district superintendent, Allentown; the Rev. Richard H. Kline, pastor; the Rev. Harvey J. Fritz Jr., pastor of Faith Bible Fellowship church in Spring City, and the Rev. Earl M. Hosler, Emmaus, former pastor of the Royersford church, all will take part in the service, which will be in the Royersford church, located at 618 Walnut street.

REV. RICHARD H. KLINE

The new parsonage is located at 630 Walnut street, not far away. Construction was started the past January and the work has just been completed, in time for the dedication tomorrow.

For many years, the Bible Fellowship churches in Royersford and Spring City, formerly the Mennonite Brethren in Christ, had one parsonage, adjoining the Spring City church, 311 Yost avenue, Spring City, which is now occupied by the Rev. Fritz and family.

THE SERVICE tomorrow will be in charge of Pastor Kline. The Rev. Hosler will offer the opening prayer. The Rev. Hertzog will bring the message.

The Rev. Kline will read the Act of Dedication and the Rev. Hertzog will give the Prayer of Dedication. The Rev. Fritz will pronounce the benediction.

Special music will be provided by the Ladies' trio of the Royersford church.

After the service, the parsonage will be open for inspection, with members of the official board present as escorts. The public was invited to attend the service and inspect the new home.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Resin Plant Foreman Is Honored For 35 Years Firestone Service

James L. Chapman, Coventry road, Pottstown RD 1, was honored at The Firestone Tire and Rubber company's plant for 35 years of service with the company.

Roger S. Firestone congratulated Chapman and presented him a 35-year diamond lapel service pin and a $100 check.

Chapman started with the company in 1925 in Akron, Ohio, in the gum dipping and cement section where he worked until 1942. In that year, he entered the armed forces and served with the 7th Armored Division of the U. S. Army until his discharge the following year.

Returning to Firestone, he was sent to the new synthetic rubber plant at Lake Charles, La., in 1943. From there he came to Pottstown in May, 1947, to work in the newly constructed resin plant. He is presently general foreman in the resin plant.

A NATIVE of Natural Bridge, Va., Chapman returns to his native state each year to follow his interest in big game hunting. He also enjoys golf and gardening.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman are members of the Coventryville Methodist church. Chapman is also a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Vestry to Open Building Bids

Sealed bids for a contract to construct a nine-room Sunday school building for Epiphany Episcopal church, Royersford, will be opened at a vestry meeting Tuesday in the church.

The Rev. John C. Kolb, pastor, said the bids will be forwarded immediately after they are opened to the church foundation of the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania. The foundation must approve of the low bidder before the contract is awarded.

The new single story building will be constructed beside the church at 266 Washington street, Royersford.

In addition to the nine class rooms, it will contain a utility basement.

The Sunday school of 65 persons meets in two rooms of the rectory, in the partitioned basement of the church, and in the kitchen.

The church has received a $40,000 grant from the diocese and a $30,000 10-year diocese loan for construction.

Injured Teacher Is Okay; Continues Travel Abroad

COLLEGEVILLE — Mrs. Donald Yerkes, corr., Phone ATlas 7-9103. Wm. Crosley Del., Phone Huxley

Dora Ziegler, an area teacher, has recovered sufficiently from an injury to her heel and wrist to continue her travels abroad. She is now with her cousin, Emma K. Ziegler, who is a missionary at the Woodstock school, Mussoorie, India.

Miss Ziegler suffered her injuries while in Jerusalem on March 21 and was hospitalized and forced to remain in that city until early May, when she was able to resume her travels.

Emma Ziegler will be completing her term of service in India in a few weeks after which the two ladies expect to travel in Europe before returning to this country in time for Dora Ziegler to resume her teaching duties in the Upper Providence Consolidated school in the Fall.

The Harold K. Weaver family, 345 West Second avenue, has been celebrating birthdays often this month. A son, Richard, was honored for his 18th birthday, and Marjorie was 9 years old Memorial Day, another son, Stephen, will be 2 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver and their children were dinner guests of an aunt, Mrs. Bessie Souder, Sellersville.

Market Revival In Tense Period Called 'Grim Irony' by Expert

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Financial experts, taking a new squint at business prospects under a renewed cold war, find the outlook promising.

"It's a grim irony," said the publishing firm, Prentice-Hall, "that the collapse of the summit talks may well be the shock that revives the faltering 1958-60 boom.

"Pressures for higher U. S. defense spending will quickly crowd out any lingering remains of disarmament hopes. This could swiftly raise prevailing business sights on the proper level of orders, inventoies, backlogs, plant and equipment appropriations and research and development outlays."

The National Securities & Research Corp. predicts rising consumer expenditures, continued expansion of government spending and growing corporate outlays for new plant and equipment.

It says these factors are expected to offset an expected decline in inventory accumulation and tend to sustain industrial activity the rest of the year.

National Securities forecasts that after-tax profits of all U. S. corporations will hit a new high of 26 billion dollars this year with total dividend payments reaching a peak of 14 billion.

The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York concludes that business has weathered a heavy inventory adjustment in good fashion, and adds: "Consumer markets have shown basic strength and business investment in plant and equipment is on the rise. Thus, the stage is set for a renewed, though perhaps moderate, advance in general business activity."

The investment firm, Goodbody & Co., finds that "confidence in the business outlook has been improving in the very period when international relationships have suffered an unexpected setback."

A. M. Kidder & Co. considers that if the stock market is going to rally for a vigorous attack on its recent high and the higher level reached in April, this would be a good point from which to start.

"A further significant decline from present levels would appreciably reduce the chances for such a penetration in the next week or two," according to the brokerage firm.

"While the uptrend may be retarded, we believe that it is still in effect and that tendencies to special strength will continue pending its resumption."

PTA Conducts Fashion Show

A fashion show highlighted the meeting of the Boyertown Area Junior High school PTA in the dining room of the Boyertown Area Senior High school.

The theme of the show was "A Look into Spring with Teens". Pupils of the Homemaking department modeled clothes they had made during the school year, while the Junior High school dance band provided background music.

Mrs. Ruth Schaeffer and Mrs. Nancy Klock directed the show.

A vote in favor of combining the Junior and Senior High school PTA was made during the business session.

Paret New Welter Champ

Cuban Awarded Unanimous Decision Over Don Jordan In 15-Round Las Vegas Title Go

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba captured the World welterweight championship Friday night with a unanimous 15-round decision over Don Jordan of Los Angeles.

The 20-year-old one-time sugar cane cutter from Santa Clara, Cuba, hacked and chopped out the victory over the 25-year-old Jordan, who was making his third defense of the crown he won Dec. 5, 1958, from Virgil Akins.

Paret weighed 146½ and Jordan 144½.

There were no knockdowns in the bout but it was a tough, bruising battle for the full 15 rounds.

* * *

REFEREE CHARLIE RANDOLPH, imported from Los Angeles to handle the match, scored it under the 5-point per round system 72 for Paret and 65 for Jordan.

Local judges Ralph Mosa had it 72-67 and Ray Lessard 71-68 for Paret.

The Associated Press had it 72-70 for the Cuban slasher.

A crowd estimated at around 3000 watched the battle in Las Vegas' Convention Center.

JORDAN, WHO went into the fight a 5-8 underdog, started out strong and closed at least even with his younger foe.

But the champion, on his way to dethronement, seemed to lose speed and power after the first five rounds and didn't regain a semblance of it until too late.

Knocked out in four rounds last December by Argentina's Federico Thompson and out-pointed just 12 days ago by Candy McFarland in Baltimore, both non-title bouts, Jordan was hardly the puncher-boxer he was 16 months ago.

There was little bloodshed. Jordan came up with a sliced cut over his left eye in the third round, and was bleeding slightly at the nose at the finish.

PARET, INDEED a busy young man with both fists, left the ring unmarked.

Paret repeatedly was cat-called by Jordan boosters for punches that landed at or just below the belt line.

Randolph warned Benny The Kid just once. Most of the time Randolph incidated that Jordan was deflecting the body blows with his elbows.

Jordan was guaranteed $85,000 for the title defense and he and Paret have a private, signed agreement calling for a rematch within 90 days.

The National Boxing association, and the Nevada Athletic commission, does not recognize the rematch agreement. Sitting at ringside was Anthony Maceroni, president of the NBA. He said he would comment on the future soon.

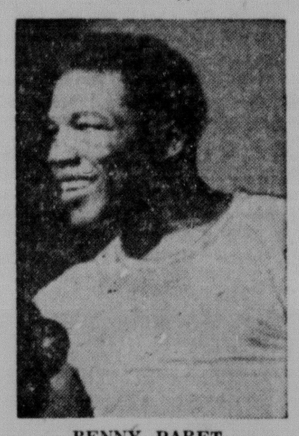

Another onlooker was Cuba's undefeated Luis Rodriguez, who whipped Paret twice in 1958 and is clamoring for a title shot.

Jordan led off the first round as if he intended to end matters in the first three minutes. He took the offense immediately although it never appeared that his youthful foe was unduly concerned.

Jordan kept up the attack for the next few rounds but each was close and never more than a point separated the two.

Jordan, whose off-training antics have drawn censure, appeared drawn as the rounds wore on.

Light Touch of Glory

It was 25 years ago that the lights were turned on in Crosley field, Cincinnati, for the first night game in Major league history. The Cincy pitcher was Paul Derringer (seen left as he appeared 25 years ago). Derringer, now much heavier, is seen on the mound again as Cincinnati marks the occasion.

Bailey Swats Grand Slam

Late Redleg Surge Tops Milwaukee Braves, 9-5

CINCINNATI (AP) — Burly Ed Bailey hit a ninth inning grand slam home run to give the Cincinnati Reds a 9-5 victory over Milwaukee's Braves Friday night.

Reliever Ken Mackenzie had kept the Reds under tight check for two innings before he ran into trouble.

Then Vada Pinson banged his second triple of the night, and Mackenzie filled the bases on two intentional walks—to Gus Bell and Frank Robinson.

Mackenzie fanned Jerry Lynch for the second out, but then came Bailey, the Reds' top hitter, who started the game at .321.

Milwaukee had stacked up an early lead, mainly on Ed Mathews' two homers.

The Reds packed in seven hits in the fifth and sixth innings, tying the score, 5-5.

Lew Burdette was routed in the fifth after a tatoo of four hits, including Gus Bell's two-run double. Reliever Bob Rush couldn't stop the rally until Cincinnati had two more runs on a single and a sacrifice fly.

Elio Chacon beat out a bunt in the sixth, and after Jim Brosnan tripled, Vada Pinson tripled in the tying marker.

Mathews climbed up among the league leaders with two home runs, making his season total nine. A two-out homer started the Braves' scoring in the first. His second blow came in the fifth after Red Schoendienst drew a walk.

Schoendienst had singled in a run in the third and Al Spangler's sacrifice fly performed a similar service in the fourth.

BOYER PACES ATTACK WITH HOMER, TRIPLE

St. Louis Gets 1st Win Over Antonelli In 2 Years

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals combined Ken Boyer's two-run homer, gritty pitching by Ron Kline and four San Francisco errors to whip the Giants' ace lefty Johnny Antonelli Friday night for the first time in two years, 5-4.

Two of the Redbirds runs were unearned but Boyer and hot-hitting Bob Nieman came though with the big blows in a clinching four-run fifth inning which gave Kline a 5-1 bulge.

Kline held on until the eighth when Orlando Cepeda's two-run homer narrowed it to one run. Lindy McDaniel came in to get the last out of the eighth and held off the Giants in the ninth to preserve Kline's second victory. He's lost three.

Antonelli took his first defeat of the season against three victories and was beaten by the Cards for the first time since May 14, 1958.

Boyer, breaking loose from a slump, also slugged a long lead-off triple to left center in the fourth and scored on Joe Amalfitano's throwing error with two out.

In the big fifth, Joe Cunningham was hit by a pitched ball, Bill White singled and Nieman slammed his second double in three trips, scoring Cunningham. White also scored as Ed Bressoud threw wild on the relay.

Then Boyer delivered his 11th homer of the season, making it 5-1.

Amalfitano led off the sixth with a double and scored on a single by Willie Mays, but Kline stopped Willie McCovey, Cepeda and Willie Kirkland to end the threat. Cepeda slugged his ninth homer with two down in the eighth and Amalfitano on with a walk, sending Kline to the showers.

It was the Cardinals fifth victory in seven games in the current home stand and 14th in 19 home games this season. San Francisco's league lead was shaved to one game.

Nieman, one time American Leaguer, is batting .577 (15-for-26) since established as a regular in left.

No-Hitter Heads North End's 18-0 Knee-Hi Victory

Steve Rohrbach and Jimmy Pollock teamed up to pitch a no-hitter for North End Fire company Friday night, in an 18-0 Knee-Hi league victory over St. John's at Memorial park.

Rohrbach, who took the win, went the first five innings, fanning 13 batters and passing five before giving way to Pollock, who went two perfect frames to preserve the pitching gem.

Meanwhile, the Firemen staked their two hurlers to 12 runs in the first three innings and coasted to the victory. Both teams were seeing action for the first time.

The winners clubbed 15 hits off two St. John's hurlers, and took advantage of seven free passes. Seven of the Firemen's hits went for extra bases.

Fad's Home Run Hands Upper Dublin Finale Win Over Pottsgrove 9, 6-5

Bob Fad's long left field homer in the bottom of the eighth handed Upper Dublin a 6-5 Inter-County league win over Pottsgrove's Falcons Friday at Pottsgrove.

The Cardinals, stripped of their home field by a construction project, acted as hosts in the final league contest for both clubs.

The win gave Upper Dublin a 4-8 mark while the Falcons wound up with a 7-5 record.

Jim Stewart and Joe Mallozzi pitched for the Cardinals with Mallozzi picking up the win. Jim Myers, Gary Shaffer and Jim Sitko, who served up the deciding blow, toiled for Pottsgrove.

THE FALCONS jumped off to a one-run lead in the first on singles by Roger Raspen and Wayne Hurst and drove Stewart out with a three-outburst in the third.

Upper Dublin scored twice in the second and moved in front with two more in the fourth.

Singles by Dave Rumler and Shaffer provided Pottsgrove with a slim edge in the sixth, but the Cards knotted the count in the bottom of the frame as Norm Siebold walked, was sacrificed to second by Tom Williams and scored on Art Lewis' one-bagger to left.

There was one gone in the last of the first extra inning when Fad connected for his winning roundtripper.

Cochran Reaches British Finals

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland, (AP)—Bob Cochran, a weary, 47-year-old American, hung on grimly all day and then grabbed a dramatic victory at the 38th hole over Gordon Huddy of England and entered the final of the British Amateur golf championship Friday.

The St. Louis paper salesman will meet Joe Carr of Ireland, a two-time winner and the pretourney favorite, in the 36-hole title match tomorrow.

Behind most of the day, the lean, graying Cochran squared the match by taking the 34th and 35th holes and then won on the second hole of the sudden death playoff.

He scored a birdie 4 to Huddy's 5 on the 510-yard 38th, thanks to two superb shots which put him on the green. He got down in two putts.

It was the first time the scrappy Yankee had his nose in front of the 29-year-old Englishman in 7¼ hours of gruelling, pressure-packed golf.

UNEARNED RUN SPOILS FINE MOUND EFFORT

Crusaders Register Second Win Over St. Pius X

LANSDALE — Righthander Paul Geotter set down St. Pius X with no hits here Friday as Lansdale Catholic gained an easy 11-1 Suburban Catholic league victory.

An unearned run in the third inning deprived the red-hot curveball artist of a well-deserved shutout.

Displaying excellent control throughout, Goetter put the side down in order in every inning but the third. He struckout seven and issued no free passes.

Ed Flanagan scored the Saints' only marker on John Browne's sacrifice fly. Flanagan, who reached and moved to second on two successive Ed Dabrowski bobbles, had been advanced to third by Lou Mancini's sacrifice bunt.

THE RUN served to spoil Goetter's blank bid but did nothing to help the Saints' cause as Lansdale had virtually wrapped up the decision with four first-inning runs at the expense of starter and loser Butch Marcheski.

In fact, Marcheski failed to survive the inning. He gave up two singles and a base-on-balls, hit a batter and committed a throwing error before Mancini was rushed in with two men gone and a runner on first.

The lefthander retired the side without further damage but his wildness kept him in trouble during his five and one-third innings stint.

Three walks and a Skip Peterman error led to three more Crusader tallies in the third and Tom O'Connor's double plus a wild pitch made the board read 7-1 in the fourth.

TWO MORE passes and a doubel by Al Rufe made it 10-1 in the fifth and Lansdale completed the parade with an unearned marker in the sixth.

The loss was the fifth for St. Pius X and the second at the hands of the Crusaders. The Saints have won three.

Bishop Shanahan's Eagles will provide the opposition when the Saints return to their home Memorial park diamond next Tuesday.

St. Pius X has yet to win in three Memorial park efforts, but the Keim Streeters are hoping to turn the trick against the visitors from West Chester, whom they subdued 9-4 in an earlier tilt at West Chester.

The Saints have four remaining tilts on their schedule.

Pirates Get 'Vinegar Bend' Mizell In Swap With Cards to Aid Pitching

WILMER MIZELL

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced Friday night they have acquired pitcher Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell and utility infielder-outfielder Dick Gray from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for a pitcher to be named later and a minor leaguer.

The Pirates gave the Cards Julian Javier, a second baseman with the Pirates' Columbus team in the International league.

The Pirates said Gray will go to Columbus, which purchased his contract as part of the deal. Javier will report to the Cards immediately. Mizell will report to the Pirates immediately.

General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pirates said he is giving up "one of the most brilliant prospects in the minor leagues" in Javier.

"I'M SHOOTING everything for this year," Brown said.

Mizell entered the majors in 1952 with St. Louis. He has been with them since 1952 except for 1954-55 when he was in military service.

His lifetime record is 69-70, including his 1-3 mark this year. His latest outing was against Milwaukee Thursday night. He lost 4-1. Mizell's earned run average this year is 4.58.

The 29-year-old lefthander last year won 13 games and lost 10, his best record, and had a 4.21 earned run average. In 201 innings, he gave up 89 walks and struck out 108. He was selected on the All-Star team but had to withdraw because of a sore back. His record was 10-3 at the time of the first All-Star game last year.

Javier, 22-yearlold Dominican Republic native, is hitting .288. This is his 6th year in organized baseball. He was with the Pirates in Spring training this year. A righthanded batter, Javier is 6 feet, 1 inch and weighs 175 pounds.

Gray has appeared in only nine games this year, mostly as a pinch-runner. He is hitless in five times at bat. Last year he was with Los Angeles and St. Louis and batted .233 in 57 games.

Kemmerer's Relief Work Aids 7-4 Win by Pale Hose

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Russ Kemmerer pitched shutout relief ball for 5 2-3 innings Friday night and his Chicago White Sox teammates overtook the Kansas City Athletics for a 7-4 victory.

The defeat dropped the A's into the American League cellar.

The Washington Senator castoff gave up only four hits, didn't walk a man, and struck out four as he took his first victory of the year. He had lost two games.

The Athletics had jumped on starter Billy Pierce for four runs including Harry Chiti's third homer when Kemmerer came to his rescue with one out in the fourth inning. Kemmerer gave up a run-scoring single to pitcher Ray Herbert but picked young Ken Hamlin off second base for the second out and retired Bill Tuttle on a harmless grounder to close out the inning.

Kemmerer gave up another single in the fifth to Andy Carey but then got the next 12 men in order before Whitey Herzog and Hamlin singled with two out in the ninth.

Thomson Rated 8-1 Pick In Indianapolis Classic

JIMMY DAYWALT

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP) — Eddie Sachs, who set a short-lived qualifying record to win the pole position in Monday's 500-mile race, was installed as a 12-1 long shot to win the classic Friday.

Johnny Thomson, of Boyertown, who fought a hair-raising battle with 1959 winner Rodger Ward in the early part of last year's race, was 8-1 in the Indianapolis News quotations, along with Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif.; A. J. Foyt, Houston, and Don Freeland, Indianapolis.

Ward, the defending champion, Indianapolis, and former AAA National champion Chuck Steven, Garden Grove, Calif., were listed as team entry favorites at 5-1.

A minor change was made in the lineup, but Sachs, Jim Rathmann and Ward will still lead the hazardous start in the chase for a third of a million dollars.

DEMPSEY WILSON of Hawthorne, Calif., who took over the Bryant Special after Jimmy Daywalt resigned as driver, was moved to last (33rd) place in the starting lineup as a safety precaution. Chief Stewart Harlan Fengler explained Wilson is unfamiliar with the car.

Daywalt, from Indianapolis, earned 26th starting position in time trials, but quit in disatisfaction with the car after tune-up runs.

Daywalt is the first driver to resign in 13 years.

Ward and Stevenson will drive for Robert C. Wilke of Milwaukee in a pair of Watson racers labeled Leader Card specials. Ward's car is new; Stevenson has Ward's 1959 winner.

JIM RATHMANN, who has been runner-up three times in 10 Memorial day races, was listed as 6-1 in another new Watson.

Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix, three times National champion and 1958 Indianapolis winner, was 9-1, which looked a little long considering he is driving a new ultralight Salih car. George Salih, whose production is about one car every other year, has had two of the last three winners.

Jim Hurtubise, most spectacular rookie at the speedway since World War II, was listed at 10-1, along with Troy Ruttman, 1952 winner.

Hurtubise bettered all qualifying records by a wide margin, but a newcomer hasn't won the long grind since George Souders in 1927.

Holy Trinity's softballers solidified their position in the City Softball league standings Friday night, with a 12-6 triumph over winless Diamond Glass at Memorial park.

The winners, who rode Cag Saylor's 10-hit pitching to the victory, leveled their league slate at 2-2, and tightened their hold on third place behind undefeated C & K and Sunset Pharmacy.

Joe Penny was the victim of the onslaught, that included 15 hits, three for extra bases.

Their big inning was the fourth, when they pushed four runs across to take a 6-1 lead which they never relinquished. The winners coupled two walks and a single to doubles by Carl Stahl and Monk Weber for the four tallies.

Kimberton Lutheran pushed across three runs in the third inning, then fought down a pair of Coventry Brethren rallies for a 6-4 Church league victory at Memorial park Friday night.

The win, third in a row for the undefeated Kimberton unit, gave the winners a two-game lead over St. James, who won its first game Thursday night.

John Ray went the route to record the win on a seven-hitter. He fanned seven and passed two, surrendering single runs in the third and seventh innings and two in the sixth. Only two were earned.

Hal Schweitzer took the loss. He went the first four innings, surrendering five hits and as many runs. He walked one and struck out one.

Legion Steelers Card First Workouts Today

The Pottstown Steelers' American Legion Juniors, co-sponsored by USWA 2326 and Legion post 47, will hold their first workouts of the season today and tomorrow at 1:30.

The team will practice on the new Enterprise field, Fifth and Manatawny streets, where the bulk of its home games will be played.

Boys interested in playing with the Steelers are requested to be present for the workouts, as there are several openings left by last year's "graduations."

Boyertown Legion Set For 1st Workout Today

The Boyertown American Legion team's first practice of the year, originally scheduled today on the Gabelsville diamond, will be held at 1:30 on the Boyertown High lot instead.

All boys interested in playing with the Boyertown team are urged to attend the workout.

The team will also practice tomorrow at the same time, and this one will be held at Gabelsville.

Big New Mitt Stops Passed Balls; Orioles' Wilhelm Tames Yanks 3-2

NEW YORK (AP)—A new giant sized catcher's glove helped Clint Courtney avoid passed balls Friday as Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore's knuckle ball artist, pitched the Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

The victory boosted the first place Orioles a half-game ahead of the Cleveland Indians, who were idled by rain at Detroit. However, the two clubs were tied at .600 in the percentage column. Baltimore had played five more games, and had won three more and lost two more than Cleveland.

Merv Breeding's ground rule double that bounced into the left field stands scored the first two Baltimore runs off Art Ditmar in the fifth. An infield out and Gene Woodling's single scored Breeding with the third run of the inning.

Before Breeding doubled, Brooks Robinson had walked and Ron Hansen was safe when Tony Kubek fumbled his grounder. Both men advanced on Wilhelm's sacrifice and scored on Breeding's hit.

The Yanks finally got to Wilhelm for a run in the sixth when slumping Mickey Mantle (now 0 for 18) walked, took second when Wilhelm balked trying to pick him off, and scored on Roger Maris' single. Yogi Berra ended the threat by bouncing into a double play.

It was Wilhelm's second victory squaring his record at 2-2. Ditmar suffered his first defeat after winning two.

Bosox Edge Nats In 4-3 Struggle To Snap Pattern

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, stung by 11 defeats in 12 games, Friday night whipped Washington ace Camillo Pascual for the third time this season as they defeated the Senators 4-3.

Fist-swinging players of both teams surged onto the field in the fifth after a verbal exchange between Boston's Pete Runnels and Pascual. The umpires swiftly restored order and ejected Runnels, the American League's leading hitter, from the game as instigator of the brief foray.

The Red Sox snapped a 2-2 tie with a pair of runs in the eighth. Gary Geiger walked with one out. Then Vic Wertz, Gene Stephens and Frank Malzone hit successive singles before Pascual struck out the last two men to end the rally.

Lenny Green hit a pinch hit home run with the bases empty in the ninth, but otherwise the Senators went down in order as the Red Sox won their second in 13 games.

Tom Brewer won his third against four losses for the Red Sox. He walked only two, struck out eight. In the seventh, he fanned sluggers Harmon Killebrew and Jim Lemon with only one out and a runner on second.

Pascual, who had won four in a row, lost his fourth. He has won five.

Sherry Nips Cub Rally, Dodgers Gain 5-3 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — World Series hero Larry Sherry rescued starting pitcher Stan Williams in the seventh inning Friday and preserved a 5-3 victory for the Los Angeles Dodgers over the Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers scored all of their runs in the first four innings and extended their winning streak to five games.

Williams registered his second triumph against no defeats. Cub starter Glen Hobbie was tagged with his sixth loss in nine decisions.

Los Angeles wasted little time in sending Hobbie to the showers and staking Williams to a five-run lead. Singles by Frank Howard, Duke Snider and Johnny Roseboro resulted in two runs in the second inning.

Two more Dodger runs came in the third on a walk to Jim Gilliam, a sacrifice, and successive singles by Wally Moon, Norm Larker and Snider.

Maxfield, Six Fellow Middies Take Punishment

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy quarterback Jim Maxfield and six other Senior Midshipmen have been punished for slipping out of the Naval academy and going on a five-hour liberty spree the night of May 10.

One of the Seniors, who already had 140 demerits, has been recommended for discharge from the Navy by Rear Adm. Charles L. Melson, the academy superintendent. He is Midshipman Freeman Robert Shaw Jr. of (15 Maple street) Canesteo, N.Y.

All the others have been restricted to quarters until 8 a.m. the day of graduation, June 8, the academy public information office said Friday.

Four of the Midshipmen, including Maxfield, were stripped of the officer ranks they held in the brigade.

Cmdr. F. M. Lloyd, public information officer, said the group left the academy about 10:30 the night of May 10, dressed in civilian clothes and went up to Glen Burnie, about half way between here and Baltimore, "where they partook of alcoholic beverages."

They didn't return until 3:45 a. m.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Local Trucker In Fatal Mishap

A Pottstown truck driver was involved in a fatal accident that took the life of an 18-year-old Allentown youth on the northeast extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike near the Lehigh Valley interchange.

Ronald J. Kloss was killed Thursday morning when the truck in which he was a passenger rammed the rear of a truck driven by Jesse Pierce, 49 West Fourth street.

Pierce's truck was loaded with logs. According to State police, a log rolled off Pierce's truck and crushed Kloss. The driver of the truck in which the victim was riding, Michael Nuben, Allentown, suffered multiple injuries. He was reported in fair conditoin at Allentown hospital Friday night.

Pierce escaped injury.

$2100 Suit Is Filed In Boy's Death

Suit for $2100 has been filed in Berks county court as the result of a traffic accident after which a three year old boy died last year near Morgantown.

The suit was filed by Harold E. Denlinger, Morgantown, father of Bruce A. Denlinger. The son died after being struck by an auto while he was crossing Route 23, half a mile east of Morgantown. Denlinger is administrator of his son's estate.

Defendants in the suit are M. Simon Zook, Honey Brook RD 2, and Mary Ann Zook, his daughter. The complaint says Miss Zook yas driving her father's car.

The complaint claims damages of $1100 for funeral expenses and $1000 for loss of earning power of the son and administration expenses.

Martin Lynch Elected President of Board

Martin Lynch was elected president of the Douglass (Mont.) school board for the 1960-61 school year at a meeting in the Gilbertsville Elementary school Thursday night.

The out-going president, Lewis Schoenly, was elected treasurer.

Lynch was also named the township's representative to the Boyertown area joint school board.

Bills totaling $11,267.02 were ordered paid.

The board announced it will hold a special meeting May 31 to pass on a proposed budget of $303,491.

Methodists Arrange Fund Raising Drive

A four-year program aimed at raising $3,300,000 to benefit Methodist supported institutions was drawn up by delegates to the Methodist regional conference Thursday in Allentown.

The conference began Wednesday and is being attended by a number of Pottstown and area ministers. It will end Sunday.

The body adopted a resolution implementnig the fund-raising program.

The drive also is aimed at strengthening Methodist supported educational institutions and at building reserves for a minister's pension fund.

FA 3-3000 is the number for news tips.

SCHOENLY'S BIG AUCTION
Perkiomenville
Monday, May 30
at 10 A.M.
(Decoration Day)
One of my largest sales! Two big truckloads of trade-in (used) furniture direct from a furniture house. Be on hand you buyers and dealers because every piece will be sold . . . and you know I mean it. It will take hours to sell all the merchandise on hand. There's also much in dishes, tools and general household articles.
Because of the large quantity, sale will start at 10 A.M. I have 3 auctioneers to keep things moving since all must be sold. I've been in the auction business for the past 44 years and treat everybody honestly. Auctions every Monday. Remember — Auction starts Decoration Day at 10 A.M. Come, join us, you won't be disappointed.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Julia Howe Wrote Song That Never Died

wrath line that John Steinbeck used as the title of one of America's great novels years later, was written in February, 1862, during a tour of an Army camp near Washington, D. C.

The words came to her one morning as the dawn broke over the camp and the memories of the marching, singing soldiers who had surrounded her carriage the previous evening and serenaded her with the songs of war—including "John Brown's body lies a mouldering in the grave. His soul is marching on," to which the words were set.

"She lay perfectly still. Line by line, stanza by stanza, the words came sweeping on with the rhythm of marching feet, pauseless, resistless. She saw the long lines swinging into place before her eyes, heard the voice of the nation speaking through her lips. She waited till the voice was silent, till the last line was ended; then sprang from bed and groping for pen and paper, scrawled in the gray twilight the 'Battle-Hymn of the Republic'."

Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord;
He is trampling out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored;
He hath loosed the fateful lightning of His terrible swift sword;
His truth is marching on.

I have seen Him in the watchfires of a hundred circling camps;
They have builded Him an altar in the evening dews and damps;
I can read His righteous sentence by the dim and flaring lamps;
His day is marching on.

I have read a fiery gospel, writ in burnished rows of steel;
"As ye deal with my contemners, so with you my grace shall deal.
Let the Hero, born of woman,
crush the serpent with his heel,
Since God is marching on."

He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat;
He is sifting out the hearts of men before His judgement-seat;
Oh, be swift, my soul, to answer Him be jubilant my feet!
Our God is marching on.

In the beauty of the lilies
Christ was born across the sea,
With a glory in His bosom that transfigures you and me;
As he died to make men holy,
let us die to make men free,
While God is marching on.

GENERAL IMPROVES

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad, Allied commander in Europe, who suffered a mild heart attack when on a golfing leave in Bavaria May 8, will be released from the U. S. Army Hospital here Sunday, a spokesman said.

Schools Feel Inflation As Budgets Set Records

cost will be "at home."

Pottstown has the largest budget of the ten, and the most costly in its history. How will the $2,629,200 be spent? Why did it climb from $2,071,250?

THE NEW $3.5 million High school will be occupied for half of the fiscal year (July 1, 1960 to June 30, 1961—in the case of each school).

The cost of operating this school — larger and more fully equipped than the present facilities—is reflected in the new budget.

Of the total $558,000 increase —which will require a 5 mill real estate tax boost—$450,000 is scheduled for renovating the present High school to make it a second Junior High.

This money will be secured through a bond issue and will not be shown directly in the taxes. The remainder of the increase—$108,000—is caused by normal salary increments, new teachers, increased enrolment, higher retirement contributions, and the second year's debt service on the bonds for the High school.

A total of $48,000 will go to additional construction expenses at the High school, $25,000 more for operating expenses, $12,000 for fixed charges (bonds, retirement, social security, interest), and $25,000 more for debt service.

IN CHESTER county, Owen J. Roberts Junior-Senior High school is operated by the Northern Chester county jointure, which includes seven townships.

This jointure operates on the secondary level only (grades 7 through 12) and it is expected to cost $772,936 this year, as compared to $703,215 for 1959-1960.

The increase reflects additional teachers to meet an increase in enrolment, and additional equipment which the board agreed to get "when the time arrived," while planning the new Owen J. Roberts school.

A total of $9850 goes for this equipment as compared to only $1000 for the present fiscal year.

On the elementary level, four member jointures plan their budgets individually.

AT THE Daniel Boone jointure-Amity and Union townships and the borough of Birdsboro—the budget is up to $588,224 from $551,896.

Again it is extra teachers, added enrolment, and the fact that the district faces normal increments under the State salary scale with no corresponding increase in State subsidies.

This in itself is a problem —the State has its own budget woes, and hasn't jacked up subsidies to keep pace with local school costs everywhere.

Since millage increased last year and real estate assessments have increased, officials feel confident there will be no tax increase in the jointure during the present fiscal year.

THE SCHWENKSVILLE Union district — Lower Frederick and Perkiomen townships and Schwenksville — will meet its higher budget by doubling its occupation tax millage.

The budget there will be $524,730 as compared to $488,550 for the present term. Real estate millage will remain 43 mills, and the per capita tax will stay at $15.

The occupation tax will be up to 100 mills from 50 mills, which means an average cost per taxpayer of from $10 to $12.50.

Increases at Schwenksville basically reflect the same propositions as elsewhere — more teachers, higher salaries, more pupils, and a $8300 increase in cost of operation due to a new addition at the High school.

The old High school will get a new roof for $10,000, which illustrates the upkeep factor every district faces.

THE TWIN VALLEY Joint school district, with member districts in Berks and Chester county, adpoted a budget of $659,193—compared to the present $580,000 working budget.

This budget includes all expenditures in the district except rental payments, janitorial services and fuel costs on the elementary level.

From this budget, $483,498 will go for instruction—pointing up the cost of competent teachers, which will continue to rise as the profession gains status.

Other costs are similar to most joint districts, the transportation problem when pupils are spread over large areas, the repayment of bond issues on new buildings, and administration of the large investments.

OLEY VALLEY Area schools, looking forward to a new Junior-Senior High school, show increasing costs of $55,143—from $554,239 to $619,382.

The reason—a new higher base salary for beginning teachers of $4000, additional rental payments on the proposed school because a sewage treatment plant has been added, and the enlarged operations of secondary grades.

Lower Providence-Worcester Joint district will have costs for 1960-1961 of approximately $1,160,000 as compared to $950,000 for the present year.

Again, officials reiterate generally the same reasons as given previously. Another factor is the beginning of rental payments on a new Junior-Senior High school to be built at Fairview village.

THE PERKIOMEN Joint district-Collegeville, Trappe and Skippack township—has a 1960-1961 budget of $470,195, as compared to $437,323 this year.

Teachers' salary increases consume almost the entire boost.

Pottsgrove Joint School district has planned a budget of $811,625, while the present year just ending had a budget of $733,000.

Five new teachers, plus making art instruction a full time job, combines to reflect some of the increase. The remainder generally pays for more expensive equipment, upkeep and materials.

ROBERT L. FISHER, supervising principal, has prepared a study which shows the projected cost per pupil—on anticipated enrolment — to be $400 in the coming year.

It cost $371 per pupil in 1958-1959, and was up to $385 this year.

The Upper Perkiomen Jointure—with seven member districts—has established an $848,540 budget, while the figure for 1959-1960 is $774,368.

Upper Perkiomen is setting up department heads in the High school, establishing a language laboratory and adopting a new bookkeeping system which includes an expensive computer.

Spring-Ford Joint School district has found its budget will boost taxes—three mills in both Spring City and in Royersford.

The new, approved budget is $1,434,615 as compared to the present $1,337,120.
